ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 3 (AP)—British and French naval forces arrived here today. Concentration of a British and French battle fleet, with cruisers and auxiliary craft here in the eastern end of the Mediterranean near the Suez Canal was announced yesterday in London by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

ATHENS, Greece, May 3 (AP)—Information reaching diplomatic quarters in Athens today said that Italian troops, warships and fighting planes were being concentrated in large numbers in the Dodecanese Islands in the eastern Mediterranean.

BRITISH QUIT ALL NORWAY EXCEPT LINES NEAR NARVIK

STOCKHOLM, May 3 (AP)—Reliable sources disclosed today that British forces abandoned the Steinkjer front last night by ship from Namsos, leaving as the only British troops in Norway those resisting Germans at Narvik, far above the Arctic circle. French forces were said to have departed from the Steinkjer front, 60 miles north of German-held Trondheim, one night ahead of the British.

(International News Service dispatches from Stockholm said Allied troops abandoned Namsos amidst a terrific German aerial bombardment. The newspaper Aftonbladet said that during the embarkation, a heavy bomb struck a British destroyer squarely, killing 30 men and wounding 60.)

Meanwhile German forces flooded northward through the broad southern lobe of Norway to follow up the earlier British retreat from the Andalsnes area, south of Trondheim, for a consolidation of positions in roughly half of Norway.

This area is inhabited by six-sevenths of Norway's 3,000,000 population.

To face the tide of Germany's mechanized and motorized forces of occupation the Allies were said to have left a thin line of Norwegian soldiery.

Any organized resistance by the Norwegians appeared to be only a matter of days and perhaps merely hours.

FRENCH ACES IN FIGHT

(From Paris came revelation by a French war ministry spokesman that French Alpine chasseurs, one of the most famous fighting forces in Europe, have landed at Narvik and are now engaged in a battle on the outskirts of the town.

(Berlin sources said the German forces were now mopping up in the southern and central parts of Norway and that "pacification of the country was being accomplished rapidly."

(Norwegian forces, according to the Berlin dispatches, are in many cases surrendering.

(Berlin insisted that the allied forces are gathering slowly at Narvik but that Germans have repulsed all attacks there.

BRITISH FLEE STEINKJER

(London reports air raiding on Oslo and other German bases in Norway.)

British troops were said to have fallen back to Namsos from the Steinkjer line and to have embarked under a rain of German bombs which killed 30 persons and wounded 60.

German air men, trying to turn the withdrawal into a rout, made repeated attacks on Namsos.

Hitler Calls War 'Fight For Being'

BERLIN, May 3 (AP)—Foreign office quarters, proclaiming the allied withdrawal from Andalsnes "a catastrophic defeat," today defied the British to find "success elsewhere" while Adolf Hitler suddenly broke his silence to reiterate that the war was a fight for existence for the Germans.

Speaking before 6000 army and air force officers and leaders of the SS, black-shirted elite guard in Berlin's Sportsplatz said the conflict is "a fight for being, or not of being, of the German people."

Foreign office quarters asserted that Prime Minister Chamberlain, forced to look to other fields to wipe out the stain of the Norwegian defeat, was threatening action. German official news from the Mediterranean, but added:

"Come what may, Chamberlain

CONQUERED?—With British forces withdrawing from every point previously held in Norway, except Narvik (2), virtually all of that country had fallen into German hands. Namsos (1) was abandoned today, according to Stockholm reports. British fliers raided Oslo (3).

U. S. Ship Raked By British Fire in Battle at Bergen

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—British machine gun fire from a bomber over Bergen harbor raked the deck of the American freighter Flying Fish during the recent battle between Allied and German forces, members of the crew said today when the ship arrived here.

The description of hostilities in the war-torn Scandinavian port was the first to reach this country. Capt. W. W. Wollaston, 50, a native of Denver, Col., also said the Flying Fish was hit in the battle between German sea forces and British aviators.

Bullets splattered against the freighter's superstructure, he said, when a land "fortress was firing on a plane."

The skipper offered this explanation hesitantly after first declaring the bullets "were probably from a plane that flew overhead."

A crew member, George Gilbert, said there could be no doubt that it was a British plane that fired on the ship, firing an American flag. "I attribute it to the plane pilot's nervousness," he said. "He raked our decks. Fortunately he wasn't using incendiary bullets. He had been flying over the land dropping bombs and was evidently going home when he spotted us, swerved, came over us and let loose."

Capt. Wollaston also described the destruction of a German cruiser and German supply ship by British bombers in the battle.

Capt. Wollaston said he had seen moored contact mines in Bergen harbor.

The Germans were extremely courteous, Gilbert said, when it came time to depart, and provided a pilot.

U. S. GRAVE OVER ITALY WAR CRISIS

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Apprehension that Italy's entrance into the European war would confront the United States with the most serious problems encountered since the outbreak of the conflict, American foreign policy officials today watched every move in the Mediterranean with anxious concern.

The decision of the British government to divert its shipping from the Mediterranean, coming after the visits of inquiry made by American Ambassador William Phillips to Premier Mussolini of Italy and his foreign minister, Count Ciano, focused official eyes on the historic middle sea.

Some officials think a call to arms is a matter of touch-and-go in Italy, much depending on the further outcome of the fighting in Norway. A few believe that midsummer will find Italy still neutral—or, to use Mussolini's words, "non-belligerent."

19,561 AMERICANS THERE

Officials are agreed that, if Italy goes to war beside Germany, the whole Mediterranean will have to be proclaimed a combat area, forbidden to American shipping. Of the great nations outside the Western Hemisphere, only Japan would be left with ports fully open to American maritime commerce.

But a new combat zone represents only one of a series of difficulties.

BRITISH FLIERS BOMB NAZI SCANDIA BASES

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—The air ministry announced today that British planes had carried out heavy attacks on German air bases in Denmark and Norway.

The communiqué said:

"The large Danish air field known as Ry, lying in open country on the shore of Lake Salten Langso in North Jutland, is known to be extensively used by the enemy in connection with operations in Norway.

"This air base has been heavily and successfully bombed by Royal Air Force aircraft.

"The attacks began yesterday and continued during the night.

"A daylight attack was made on Stavanger (Norway) and both this base and Fornebu (airport outside Oslo) also were bombed during the night.

"Numerous R. A. F. aircraft were engaged throughout yesterday in providing protection against air attack for the convoy transporting British military forces from Andalsnes.

"No British aircraft was lost in any of these operations."

Hyde Park Boy Held As Attacker

Through arrest of a 14-year-old Hyde Park boy, it was learned today, police believe they have ended a series of attacks on young girls which have been terrorizing the Hyde Park, West Roxbury and Roslindale districts.

The youth, declared by police to have confessed that he is the boy who, in several weeks, has gagged more than half a dozen girls, one as young as 5 years, and mistreated them after tying them to trees, is now under observation at the Psychopathic Hospital.

For a number of weeks, Hyde Park and West Roxbury police have been given stories told to parents by little girls of a big boy who molested them.

As a result, extra police details have been cruising in the areas in search for the youth.

It was learned that on Wednesday two Hyde Park patrolmen had one of the little victims, a 5-year-old, cruising with the min a police car. When on a Hyde Park street she pointed out the 14-year-old boy. She told police he was the boy who had bound, gagged and mistreated her.

The youth was picked up and taken to Hyde Park station, where he was turned over to Special Officers Henry J. Williams and John Moynihan, assigned to the case.

After questioning the boy is said to have admitted attacks on at least eight girls.

Yesterday he was in juvenile court in West Roxbury, before Judge Daniel J. Casey, and as a result of the hearing was committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation until May 10. Then he will be returned to the court.

The specific complaints on which he was arraigned concern the five-year-old Hyde Park girl and a six-year-old Roslindale girl.

Model, Jail Guard Found Shot to Death

CHICAGO, May 2 (INS)—An attractive young model and a veteran Iridewell prison guard were found shot to death today in front of the woman's home.

The victims were Mrs. Ivy Fern Berry, 26-year-old divorcee, and Salvatore De Grazia, 47. Police said evidence pointed to murder and suicide.

Women's Bodies Found in Cars

PITTSBURGH, May 3 (AP)—Bodies of two women were found today in old boxcars headed for the scrap heap in the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad's yards in Stowe township.

One of the bodies, the first to be found, had been dissected with medical precision resembling the handwork of Cleveland's "mad butcher," Coroner P. J. Henry said.

SKATER WEDS—A favorite of many Boston fans while appearing with ice show here, Audrey Peppé, one of the greatest skaters developed in America, today was a bride. She wed David Benner, assistant lodge manager, in cabin ceremony at Sun Valley, Idaho.

MAN SHOTS TWO WOMEN, ENDS LIFE

WESTPORT, Ct., May 3 (AP)—A domestic quarrel ended early today with a burst of gunfire that took the life of John H. Bell, 44, and severely wounded his wife and another woman.

Police Chief John A. Dolan said Bell shot his wife, Elizabeth, 36, and Mrs. Signe Tolliver, 45, in a Compo rd. home where the women were employed as servants, and then turned his revolver on himself.

He died of a bullet wound in the head a short time after admittance to the hospital in nearby Norwalk.

Attendants said that Mrs. Bell, wounded in the chest, elbow, abdomen and spine, was in "fair" condition, and that the condition of Mrs. Tolliver, wounded in the spine, was "good."

Police gave this account of the shooting:

Bell, an attendant at the Westport Sanitarium, quarreled for several hours with his wife, employed as a maid by J. M. Avery, in her bed room at the Avery home.

A shot rang out, rousing the cook, Mrs. Tolliver, who encountered Bell coming from his wife's room with a revolver in his hand, and asked:

"What's the matter?"
"You'll find out what's the matter," Bell replied, and shot twice.

The man returned to his wife's room, shot her again and then shot himself. Police said they had not learned the cause of the quarrel.

ASKS PROTECTION—Arriving in New Orleans with his wife, the former Hope Dare, Dixie Davis, former "kid mouthpiece" of a New York gang, asked police protection. He's scheduled to testify there as a government witness in the trial of Frankie Costello, alleged Gotham slot machine czar, on Monday.

RUNAWAYS AGAIN FOILED IN WOBURN

Runaways for the second time in less than 48 hours, two sleepy-eyed, tousel-headed Woburn youngsters were found today hiding in a bus garage a few blocks from their home.

They were wearing only trousers hastily pulled on over their night clothes.

This makeshift traveling costume owed its inadequacy to the fact that their most recent flight, almost under their mother's nose, was accomplished after they had been tucked in bed early as a punishment for their previous truancy.

THEY LIKE STONEHAM

The runaway pair, Tom and Eddie Stokes, 8 and 6 years old respectively, were taken to Woburn police headquarters before being turned over to their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Stokes of Fowle st., Woburn.

She said she thought blonde, blue-eyed Tom, the elder of her sons, was the ringleader in the two escapades in two days.

Tom lived for several years with his grandmother in Stoneham and both he and his loyal follower, Eddie, claim "there is a lot more fun in Stoneham than in Woburn," according to the mother.

Tom had a further grievance against Woburn, he confided to Police Chief Charles R. McCauley, "I don't like my schoolteacher; she slapped me yesterday," Tom explained as one man to another.

Chief McCauley, remembering school lickings of his own in the past—tried hard to be stern, but had a twinkle in his eye as he warned Tom and Eddie that boys that skip school and worry their poor mothers half to death are apt to wind up in jail or a reformatory. Tom was crying when his mother arrived. But nobody was sure if his tears were of remorse or just of chagrin at failure of his plans.

He had better luck in staging the first runaway. That time he and Eddie got as far as the home of the grandmother in Stoneham. They were found there asleep under a front porch.

PUSH BERLANDI PROBE

RUNNELLS' SHOOTING PROBED

AUGUSTA, Me., May 3—In a surprise move, authorities today reopened investigation into the shooting of William A. Runnells shortly before he resigned as state controller in the face of embezzlement charges.

Runnells has declared that he accidentally wounded himself while examining a gun he had purchased as a birthday present for his brother, Edward.

After a new study of the shooting which occurred a month ago, authorities, however, declared it would have been impossible for Runnells to have accidentally wounded himself twice with the same gun.

The new police theory is based upon the striking power of the weapon. Shot in the heart region, Runnells would have lacked the necessary strength to direct a second shot in the same place, police stated.

The accused former state controller was found wounded in his Hallowell home by his brother.

The wounded man was taken to Augustana Hospital on the order of Dr. A. B. Libby of Gardiner before state police were notified.

Last of Heart Balm Suits Nearing Trial

The last heart balm suit in Massachusetts neared the trial stage today in Suffolk Superior Court.

It is that of Mrs. Mary Frances Avery, 45-year-old widow, formerly of Newton, who, in answers to interrogatories, alleged that she was proposed to many times by Mintworth V. Lander, 72-year-old inventor of Commonwealth ave., Brighton.

Mrs. Avery who asks $30,000 for alleged breach of promise, started the case in 1937, before the Legislature barred such litigation. Court attaches believe her suit will be the last of the few remaining cases to reach trial.

Mrs. Avery, now employed as a stenographer in New York, stated that Lander first spoke of marriage in October, 1934.

"I want you to be my wife. I need a companion," she quoted the elderly inventor as telling her.

She told him she had burdens and responsibilities, but she said he told her that he would assume them and would create a trust fund for the younger of her two daughters.

He broke his alleged marriage contract by marrying another woman in 1937, Mrs. Avery stated.

The latter, Mrs. Vivian Lander of Reading, recently sued for separate support, but the suit was dismissed after a hearing.

U. S. JURY IN WAGE LAW QUIZ

The federal grand jury continued until Tuesday further hearings on income tax evasion charges against a prominent local contractor and today took up cases involving wage and hour law violations.

Vernon C. Stone, attorney for the New England wage and hour division, went before the grand jury with charges involving operators of shoe factories.

A bevy of pretty girl operators from Greater Boston shoe factories, summoned to testify on charges employers' violations fair labor standards, crowded courthouse anterooms.

The last witness heard by the grand jury in the income tax evasion case said to involve one of the builders of the Quabbin dam, was Hugh Irey, government tax expert.

Four more witnesses are due to appear before the jury on Tuesday.

Babe-in-Woods 5 Years Old

UPTON, May 3—Five years old today, Winona Nelson, the babe-in-the-woods girl of 1937, was remembered by a public with a heart as big as her birthday cake.

Little Winona, or Winnie, as her playmates call her, has practically forgotten those four days and nights of hunger, thirst, rain and freezing temperatures, when she was lost in the woods.

But scores of well-wishers who knew the girl only by reading of her ordeal haven't forgotten. Again this year they are sending her birthday presents.

For weeks after the child, then two, was found, doctors fought another battle to save her life.

Twenty-five playmates joined Winona at her party today.

VITAMIN WHICH PREVENTS GRAY HAIR ISOLATED

MADISON, Wis., May 3 (AP)—Isolation of a vitamin which prevents and cures graying hair in animals was announced today by a group of University of Wisconsin bio-chemists.

The scientists said they had not determined definitely whether the vitamin also would be effective in treating human beings seeking to maintain or restore the youthful color of their hair.

"There may be more than one cause for graying hair," Dr.

Elvehjem said, "but at least in some animals one type of graying is caused by poor nourishment. If this holds true in man, then it is quite possible the vitamin may cure the trouble."

2d Carney Acquittal To End All Charges

TAUNTON, May 3—With the acquittal of New Bedford's Mayor Leo E. J. Carney and three co-defendants, authorities today indicated the curtain would be lowered on the two-year probe of alleged irregularities in New Bedford.

Because of the expense further attempts to obtain convictions on indictments returned by a special grand jury in 1938 would be abandoned, Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley intimated.

The 1939 trial and retrial of Carney on charges of soliciting bribes, the trial of Joseph Millette, former deputy sheriff, and the Carney trial just ended "have been so costly that the other indictments probably will not come to trial," Crossley said.

In his charge to the jury, Judge John E. Swift declared that one of the first concerns of the jurors was to consider whether a conspiracy existed at all, and if they found there was no conspiracy in existence "then there isn't anything further to these cases."

JURY OUT 8 HOURS

A conspiracy is formed, Judge Swift explained "when men agree to something unlawful."

Among those named in the untied indictments are 17 members of the 1938 New Bedford City Council.

A superior court jury deliberated about eight hours before returning a verdict of not guilty against Carney, his secretary, James McKenna, Mitchell Green and John C. Sylvia, on charges of conspiracy in bus contract awards.

Beyond expressing his gratitude to the jurors who had heard the case for eight days, Mayor Carney had no comment to make after the verdict was announced by the 27-year-old jury foreman, John L. Houghton of Mansfield.

DENY GRATUITIES

The state contended that these bus operators had to "kick back" 25 per cent of what they received to the mayor and his secretary. But, Green and Sylvia denied that they had ever paid the mayor or anyone else money in connection with their contracts.

The mayor and his secretary also denied ever having asked for gifts or gratuities of any kind. When the jury reported its verdict the only sound in the court room was a moan of relief from Mrs. Laura St. Aubin, the mayor's sister-in-law.

BISHOP ORDAINS 35 TO PRIESTHOOD

In the crowded Cathedral of the Holy Cross 35 young men were ordained to the priesthood today by the Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, auxiliary bishop of Boston.

A few thousand persons saw the impressive, two-hour-long services at which the Rev. Harry M. O'Connor and the Rev. Henry L. Connelley assisted Bishop Cushing.

Later, parents, relatives and friends crowded into the Cathedral basement to receive the new priests' blessings.

Those ordained were: Albert Abramczinski, St. Rocco's, Brockton; James Cullinan, Immaculate Conception, Lowell; Martin Dolphin, St. Margaret's, Lowell; Joseph Donelan, All Saints', Roxbury; Walter Flaherty, St. Charles, Woburn; John J. Fogarty, St. Peter's, Dorchester; John E. Foley, St. Stephen's, Framingham; John O'Brien, Holy Name, West Roxbury.

John A. Saunders, St. Augustine's, South Boston; Shawn Sheehan, St. Margaret's, Brockton; Daniel Sullivan, St. Columbkille's, Brighton; John Tierney, St. Mary's, Charlestown; Clarence Boucher, St. Joseph's, Salem; Walter Doyle, Immaculate Conception, Malden.

John Gegan, Our Lady Help of Christians, Newton; John Keeley, Immaculate Conception, Malden; Walter Lavin, St. Rita's, Lowell; John Maguire, Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston; Richard Marks, Most Precious Blood, Hyde Park.

Wellesley Students Get Back Their 10:45

Wellesley College students and other commuters today hailed an announcement of restoration to service on May 13 of the 10:45 p. m. train from South Station to Framingham.

Ira G. Rasp, general passenger agent of the Boston and Albany railroad stated the trip, which had been cancelled last Monday, will continue to serve residents of Newton, Wellesley, Natick and Framingham.

B'nai Brith Caucus Plans Arranged

Greater Boston lodges and auxiliaries today were planning the program for the 88th annual convention of District One of the Grand Lodge of B'nai Brith, to be held at the Hotel Statler May 11 to 13.

There will be 143 lodges and auxiliaries in New England, New York and Canada represented, according to Benjamin J. Shoolman, chairman of the executive committee on arrangements.

'CLEAN UP' RELIEF ORDER

LEOMINSTER, May 3—Welfare recipients were told today either to clean up their homes or face loss of assistance. Several property owners complained of the condition of rental tenements.

Boy, 2, Feared Kidnap Victim

ASHUELOT, N. H., May 3—Weary searchers today turned toward a kidnapping theory in the strange case of two-year-old Aubrey Hipper, who disappeared seven days ago.

The child, it is believed, may have been picked up by a passing motorist or possibly by gypsies recently seen in this vicinity.

This theory was reached after officials spent days dragging rivers and ponds and searching through wooded sections with no trace of the boy.

DECISION—When Mrs. Hope Ryder Nichols divorced Herbert L. Nichols, Jr., recently, she refused alimony. So, her parents, who claim they're her sole source of support, took a hand. And now, New York court rules she must accept the alimony... but she says she'll appeal.

Monkey Bites Party Guests---So What?

NEW YORK, May 3 (INS)—Authorities were in a quandary today as to what charges, if any, to press against a prisoner arrested at the swanky River Club for biting a couple of people while presumably under the influence of champagne.

The problem facing the authorities is made more difficult by the fact that their prisoner is a monkey, named Chico.

The monkey, rented from an organ grinder to entertain at a cocktail party for Mrs. C. B. Dillingham, was royally treated. He had three sandwiches, a banana and some peanuts.

Then he had a glass of champagne. Then he had another glass of champagne.

Suddenly Chico jumped upon the Countess Aline Kozieba and bit her thumb. As she was being taken to a New York hospital, William Douglas, young tennis pro, attempted to reason with Chico whereupon the monkey promptly bit him twice in the cheek. Douglas went to Midtown Hospital.

Chico seemed completely indifferent to it all when he woke up this morning—with a hangover.

DYING AS JAIL BREAK FAILS, ADMITS KILLING 3 POLICE

NEW YORK, May 3 (INS)—Death today had ended the crime career of Norman Zeff but not before he had confessed the murder of three New York policemen and wounding of another. Zeff's motive, the district attorney's office said, for the slaying was simple—the police had stood in the way of his carrying out a contract to kill Harry Halperin, another gangster. Halperin eventually was killed but not by Zeff. Today, Max Ludkowitz, another mobster, was indicted for that slaying.

Zeff, serving a 16-year term at Auburn prison, was shot down yesterday after he had made a desperate dive from a train carrying him to New York for questioning about other crimes.

He died today but Dist. Atty. Dewey's office reported that before death came, Zeff had admitted to an assistant prosecutor, complicity in the slaying of these policemen: Detective James J. Garvey, slain on April 21, 1934.

Patrolman Philip Clarius, killed on March 15, 1934.

Patrolman John Monahan, murdered on Nov. 28, 1934.

In the Garvey slaying, Detective Francis J. Gleason was wounded. Joseph Sponsky, another Auburn long-term, had already pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the Monahan case. Dewey's office reported today that the new information involved Sponsky and Zeff in all three slayings.

The assistant prosecutor who had ordered Zeff brought to New York drove to Yonkers hospital last night when he learned about the prisoner's attempted escape and its result.

Zeff was weak but he talked to the prosecutor, readily indicted himself and not so readily, involved Sponsky.

Harvard Faculty Men Get $13,696 for Study

Grants totaling $13,696 have been awarded 11 Harvard faculty members for study of housing, Social Security and allied subjects next year, university officials said today.

The grants, by the committee on research in social sciences, went to John D. Black, William L. Crum, William Y. Elliott, James Ford, Elizabeth Gilboy, S. E. Harris, E. P. Herring, E. G. Latham, Donald McKay, E. S. Mason and C. C. Zimmermann.

DROWNS IN FAINTING FIT

GARDNER, May 3—Victim of a fainting spell, Carl O. Tofeldt, 63, of Leamy st., was dead today after falling into 12 feet of water and drowning in a well which bore his initials. He built the well last year on the property of George Nyman.

STORK BRINGS PLANNED FAMILY

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3 (AP)—Lawyer Forrest L. Hackley, whose wife is president of the Marion County Central Birth Control League, announced today his family had been completed on schedule with the birth of a second daughter.

"We planned it that way," said Hackley, "more than 10 years ago."

The Hackleys were married two weeks after the 1929 stock market crash. Mrs. Hackley was a busy woman. Besides her birth control work, she had a hat shop. She now is president of the National Association of Women.

So the couple decided not to start raising a family until seven and a half years later.

Accordingly, the first daughter was born May 26, 1937. The Hack-leys named her Beverly Jo and promised her a sister on May Day, 1940.

There has been only one hitch in the planning. The Hackleys don't know what to name the new baby.

Hub Interests Fight For Seekonk Track

SEEKONK, May 3—Unidentified promoters today prepared to vie for favorable action by the board of selectmen on opposing petitions for construction of dog tracks here.

The selectmen at a hearing Tuesday will hear arguments of the Riverview Kennel Club and the State Line Kennel Club, both said to be backed by Boston interests.

MILLETTE STARTS 2-YR. TERM

TAUNTON, May 3 Joseph J. Millette, former Bristol county deputy sheriff, today was back at the house of correction, but this time behind the bars.

Sentenced on four counts of conspiracy to register trucks illegally in New Bedford, Millette began a two-year term under Sheriff Patrick H. Dupuis, for whom Millette served as deputy for more than six years.

Judge John E. Swift also imposed a $1000 fine.

Two other indictments containing 61 counts of larceny, each of more than $100, from Charles Pittle, New Bedford pinball and horse race machine proprietor, on which Millette was found guilty two weeks ago, were filed.

Also filed were two other indictments charging conspiracy to illegally register trucks.

Millette had pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to register trucks illegally, along with God-froid Grenier, New Bedford insurance broker; Robert Rayno and Adolph P. Santos, both of New Bedford. Grenier was given a suspended sentence of six months with probation for two years. Rayno and Santos were given suspended sentences of two months each, with probation for two years.

JUNE 10

JULY 10

AUG. 10

Until now, your choice lay between heavyweight clothes or porous Summer suits—"you pays your money and you takes your choice." But what about all those days in between—when a suit built for 50-degree weather is too warm, and an 80-degree tropical leaves you cold? These NEW Bond Middleweight Worsteds are your first correct answer! Slip into one, and heave a sigh of relief at the way it takes a load off your shoulders. Wear yours every day, notice how it holds its shape, and sharp crease. Only expensive long-staple yarns can do it—give you this finer texture with less bulk. With Bond's smooth Rochester needlework for that final touch of perfection and easy comfort. Come in today or tomorrow—start enjoying new freedom from old-time, stuffy clothes. As usual, the cost is very little, at Bonds!

16 Too Many Changes Peril Wage-Hour Bill

16 MAY 3, 1940
EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The House labor committee's wage-hour bill, at one time wearing an Administration label, was loaded so heavily with exemptions today that its chief sponsor denounced it as "a disgrace to the country."

Rep. Norton (D.) of New Jersey, who made that comment, expressed despair of stopping the legislation in the House, however, and told members to go ahead and add as many more exemptions as they chose.

She predicted that the bill would have "a long sleep" in the Senate later committee.

After the House called an armistice to delay and bitter debate over amending the wage-hour law, Mrs. Norton tearfully estimated that "under the guise of help to the farmer more than 2,000,000 industrial workers have been voted exemptions from both wage and hour standards."

Three amendments which were adopted, she said, would exempt "all industries handling any agricultural product."

The scene preceding on the floor late yesterday was one of confusion in which members yelled through amendments, some of which received little explanation.

SWEEPING EXEMPTION

The exemption considered most far-reaching by the Administration side would remove the 30 cents an hour wage minimum and 42-hour maximum week regulations from: "Any employee employed in cleaning, packing, grading or preparing fresh fruits and vegetables in their raw or natural state or any employee of any product consisting wholly or in chief volume of perishable, seasonal fruits or vegetables, including dried fruits, or in handling or transportation in connection with or incidental to such operations to the extent any employee is so engaged."

It was offered by Rep. Blaine (D.) of Virginia and won 12 to 10 on a standing vote. Mrs. Norton said the Labor Department estimated that 116,000 workers would be exempted under the provisions.

OTHER AMENDMENTS

A voice vote approved another amendment, by Rep. Anderson (R.) of Minnesota, which would eliminate the "area of production" requirement from the present acts exemption for agricultural process work.

The present law applies to all processors except ones in towns of 250 or less which process products coming from within a 10-mile radius. The House also voted to exempt from the law commercial and industrial workers receiving $1500 or more a year or $200 or more a month. It was offered by Rep. Case (R.) of South Dakota.

Rep. Dickson (R.) of Illinois obtained an hour's exemption for small wholesale grocers. Members approved a proposal by Rep. Gwynne (R.) of Iowa to exempt employees of all newspapers with a circulation under 5000.

Married in Waltham, Couple to Live in Me.

After a private wedding, the former Mrs. Charles H. Lincoln of Howard st., Waltham, and Carroll P. Bond of Jefferson, Me., today said they would leave Waltham within a few days to establish a summer residence in Jefferson.

They exchanged a wedding of the first day and were married at 10 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Frederick H. Page, Greenwood lane, Waltham.

Grand Jury Adjourns Income Tax Probe

The federal grand jury was in adjournment today until Tuesday in the case of a Boston contractor on income tax evasion charges.

The contractor is said to have had one of the contracts at Quabbin dam. Latest witness heard was Hishley, one of the so-called wedding crew.

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR, FOE EDITOR IN FIST FIGHT

JACKSON, Miss., May 3 (AP)—Gov. Paul Johnson and Maj. Frederick Sullens, editor of the anti-administration Jackson Daily News engaged in a fight in the lobby of a downtown hotel, with both coming out of the scrap bloodied.

Sullens was hurried to a doctor's office by his wife and daughter for an X-ray examination of a head wound.

Cut. Tom Brady, of the state highway patrol, met newsmen at the executive mansion with the report that the governor was resting in bed and would have no statement to make at present.

Maj. G. W. Buck of Yazoo City, a close friend of the governor, was in conversation with the chief executive when the latter suddenly noted the presence of Sullens.

"He (Johnson) jumped over me so fast, I didn't know what was happening until blood was shooting every which way from Sunday," he related.

"I guess the governor just boiled over when he saw him," Buck and other witnesses related that in the ensuing struggle the governor was pushed or stumbled over a chair, both men then falling to the floor.

Curley, Ward Win; Both for Roosevelt

Former Governor James M. Curley is "for Roosevelt first, last and always," he told the Boston Evening American today after release of official figures revealed that he was the best Democratic vote-getter in Boston in the presidential primaries. The official figures also disclosed that City Councilor Michael J. Ward of Brighton, who had been thought defeated for district delegate in the 10th congressional district in reality had won a place.

Ward headed the liberal side in that district, opposing the Farley-placed side.

"I was very pleased," said Ward today, "to find that official returns have made it possible for me to go to the Chicago convention."

"I'm with Roosevelt if he is a candidate. I'll vote for Farley if Roosevelt is not a candidate."

"If Farley is not a candidate, I recognize Sen. Walsh, Atty.-Gen. Dever and Mayor Tobin as the leaders of my party and will accept their counsel. Their honesty and integrity are recognized by all the people of Massachusetts."

CURLEY TOPS WALSH

Topper of the tower of Democratic delegates in Boston, Curley polled 17,500 votes. A close second was Sen. C. Walsh with 17,072. Atty. Gen. Dever finished in third place with 16,000 votes, and Mayor Dever polled 15,000.

Only a month ago Curley came out publicly for Farley, declaring he had spoken with the President.

Political analysts recalled today, however, that in 1938, after criticizing Roosevelt at a meeting in Salem, Curley had publicly climbed back on the Roosevelt bandwagon. Curley's vote in Boston was in Tuesday's presidential primaries, when Mayor Tobin took only one, Walsh two.

TOBIN'S VOTE EXPLAINED

But if Gov. Hall observers said the vote was to be taken as an indication of the relative strength of Curley and Tobin in the city, the district's 1938 record seemed to support Curley's lead.

The Curley forces these observations and they showed concentrated on winning Boston's 11th district. Curley by 1938 was a state senator and had not yet won a seat in the House. His supporters feared he would lose if they were not concentrated on the entire state rather than the city.

Curley swept First Boston, Charlestown, the North South and West End. He won two Back Bay wards, also all the wards in Roxbury, more recently regarded as Tobin territory. Also in the Curley column were Jamaica Plain and three Dorchester wards.

Senator Walsh captured only two wards, Ward 21 in Mattapan and Ward 22 in Boston. Atty. Gen. William F. Dever took Ward No. 6, his home ward, in Mattapan. Mayor W. McElwrick took Wards 4 and 16 in Dorchester.

Agreement Ends Chicago Milk Strike

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—The city-wide strike of organized dairy employees which halted virtually all home milk deliveries was settled early today.

Representatives of the striking milk wagon drivers union and the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago reached an agreement after 12 hours of negotiation. It provided for immediate ending of the strike which began Wednesday and arranged for future negotiations.

Anders Takes Up Moccie Governorship

Edward L. Anders of Washburn today took up his new duties as governor of the Oregon Territory. Anders, a former Oregon legislator, took office at the Hotel Tabor.

Joseph C. McGovern of Danvers was named as junior governor. Loring Loring is at the Hotel Tabor.

$1,000,000 FRAUD SUIT FOR JARVIS

New financial troubles today beset William J. Jarvis, former Boston stock broker, who was pardoned by President Roosevelt after his conviction in the alleged $1,200,000 frauds in Atlas Tack and Polymet Co. stock.

Filed in federal court by 33 investors was a civil suit which seeks to recover $216,993.14 from South Shore magnate Jarvis and 14 other brokers.

The investors claim they lost that much money as a result of a conspiracy on the part of Jarvis and others to create fictitious and inflated prices for Atlas Tack stock which the brokers had purchased on the New York Stock Exchange.

Jarvis, Samuel L. Gaines of Boston, and Philip H. Philbin Jr. of New York, were named in the suit as conspirators, while 13 others were named as defendants, but not alleged conspirators. Jarvis was pardoned by the President in May, 1939, after serving 15 months of a five-year sentence in federal penitentiary on charges of using the mails to defraud. Jarvis was said to have been the reason on which Philbin based his petition for a pardon.

Gaines, Morris Shuman Boston stock broker, and Philbin had been imprisoned with Jarvis following convictions both in Boston and New York in connection with the Atlas Tack and Polymet stock manipulations.

Shuman is named as one of the 13 defendants in the civil action. The other 12 defendants, all of Boston, are William J. Kennedy, McVee's Financial Service, Inc., Henry Barry, Harold B. Hale, Edward F. Barry, John L. Callahan, Charles Vicomani, Arthur C. Gardner, Sidney Pollack, Walter F. Dowler, Albert A. Coady and Ralph Moore.

Investors claim the price of Atlas Tack jumped from $6 a share in June, 1933, to $35 a share in December, 1933, and that sales rose at the same time from 1000 to 20,000 shares a month.

In making their purchases on the New York Stock Exchange, the plaintiffs state they relied on the market price and on certain representations that the Atlas Corporation then had orders for 4,500,000 gross of bottle caps from a well-known soft drink manufacturer.

After buying the stock, it dropped to more than two-thirds of the price they paid for it, the plaintiffs declared.

Among the investors are Isaiah Pierce, Bangor, Me., Jennie L. Somes of Mount Desert, Me., and Samuel Bonnette, Hillsboro, N. H.

French Nab 2 U. S. Youths on Spy Trail

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, May 3 (AP)—Two American medical students at Lausanne University sat dejectedly today in a French military prison while Swiss and United States officials tried to obtain their release.

The students, Paul Lustwig and Antony Aragona, 25-year-old New Yorkers, went rowing Sunday on Lake Lemman. They were blown to the southern shore by a storm and blundered through the underbrush until French bayonets halted them. They had landed on a stretch famed as a "spy trail" by which German agents attempt to reach France.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, mope and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name, 18c and 24c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Dazzling New Acts Delight Young, Old As Circus Hits Hub

By FRED PERKINS

With all pre-war Europe's swanky glitter and glamour, plus the lavishness and speed and color of its American tradition, the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus was Boston's No. 1 entertainment "must" today.

The biggest show the Greatest Show on Earth ever brought to New England swung into its 10-day stay at the Boston Garden after its amazing feature program, highlighted by a score of top-billing acts never seen before in the United States, won an almost steady three-and-a-half-hour roar of applause from a record first-night throng.

This year's circus, from its huge and brilliant opening spectacle to the fast-paced, breakneck horse and chariot races that are its breath-taking finale, has the perfected, sophisticated touch it acquired with its great number of headline performers from over seas.

It has the world-famous foreign troupes, like that of Alfred Court, the Cat Act marvel. He's as French as the Eiffel tower, and he's only in America this year because the shadow of the war is dark and heavy on Europe's gilded pleasure spots.

JUGGLER WINS BRAVOS

Court works black panthers, jaguars, leopards and pumas in a centering cage, while his associates, Fred Olsen and slim, brown-haired young Miss May Kovar, handle tigers, bears and lions on platforms one and three.

Another "First Time in America" feature comes a few numbers further along on the program. This is the five-team aerial ballet, high diving and trapeze acts without hits. And the girl performers are not only supertive high-diving acrobats—they're also pretty enough to grace a night club line or the musical comedy stage.

Following the Aerial Ballet is Maximiliano Truzzi, making his U. S. bow as the Greatest Living Juggler. Boston never saw his like before, they say. And his torch tossing stunt, with the Garden lights out, even gets a big hand from the roustabouts.

And so the Greatest Show on Earth speeds along to its chariot-race ending, with flying trapeze acts, acrobatic and balancing acts, horse and animal acts, all brand new and thrilling to American watchers.

LAUGH CLOWN LAUGH

And there's a lot of laugh-clown-laugh—though-your-heart-is-breaking and the show-must-go-on stuff to this 1910 Ringling circus, too.

For almost every one of the star performers and a good many score unlisted undertlings—have friends and relatives in their European homelands.

Friends and relatives either in uniform on the fighting fronts or courageously carrying on the business of living in towns and cities deep in the gloom of blackouts and shaken by the terror of bombs or shelling.

Yet there's none of the fear and despair of Europe in the big show at the Boston Garden.

MAN-KILLING GORILLA

There's only the pulse-quickening blare of circus music, the gay horseplay of the clowns, the suspense of the thrill-acts, the smell of the menagerie and the sawdust and the hotting and the cheering.

the shimmer of spangles, the hammer of hoofs.

Elephants? The highest herd of them ever brought to town!

Sideshow freaks? Well, don't forget Gargantua, the giant, man-killing gorilla, in his $23,000 air-conditioned cage. Don't forget the midgits and the fat lady and the human skeleton.

Sure they're there. This circus has everything. And a lot of it will surprise you.

It will especially surprise you if you're a doddering old has-been who hasn't seen a circus—since 1939!

Textile Trade Studies Needs

Recommendations for improvements in Massachusetts' textile industry will be made at a meeting of a textile committee at the State House May 10, the committee announced today.

A sub-committee, headed by Joseph Salerno, labor leader, indicated it would make several recommendations for legislation to assist industry.

State Labor Commr James T. Moriarty, acting on recommendations of the committee, recently suspended regulations against a third shift in the industry in an effort to improve competitive conditions with companies outside the state.

BOB RIPLEY RECEIVES DEGREE

Robert L. "Believe It Or Not" Ripley, Sunday Advertiser-Daily Record cartoonist, and world famous explorer and lecturer, was awarded the degree of doctor of the art of oratory at the 40th annual Founder's Day dinner of the Staley College of the Spoken Word at the Copley-Plaza.

Guest of honor with Dr. Delbert Meyer Staley, president and founder of the college; Gov. Sargent and Dr. Toly Hsieh, director of the Chinese service bureau, who also received an award, Ripley amazed his commencement audience by stories of his weird adventures into the far corners of the world seeking Nature's oddities.

"In the civilized world dictators have used the spoken word to mount to power," he said. "I have heard them all—even though I didn't always understand what they were saying."

"Stalin is the poorest speaker of the lot, Mussolini the most dramatic and emotional and Hitler a complete master of the spoken word."

"But there is a tribe in central Africa, whose half a million members can't speak a single word—believe it or not."

Earlier in the day Ripley also addressed a record breaking gathering at the weekly Hearst Round Table luncheon at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, attended by Publisher Harold Kern, Editorial Director Walter Howey, Advertising Manager Ernest Holtzner and other Hearst executives.

Hamsun Flays British Tyranny

OSLO, May 3 (AP)—Knut Hamsun, Norwegian novelist who won the Nobel literature prize in 1920, today sent all Oslo newspapers a manifesto accusing the British of infringing on Norway's neutrality and urging Norwegians to lay down their arms against Germany.

The Germans, Hamsun declared, are helping crush English "tyranny."

His statement, addressed to his fellow-Norwegians, said:

"When the Britishers in their predigulous savagery forced a passage into Jossing fjord and infringed our neutrality, you did nothing about it.

"But when the Germans occupied Norway to prevent war in our country, you did something: You conspired with our runaway king and his private government and mobilized.

"It is no use . . . England is incapable of helping you except with small flocks here and there roving about the valleys begging for food.

"Norwegians! Throw away your rifles and return home. The Germans are fighting for us and now are crushing England's tyranny over us and all neutrals."

ONLY BRITISH IN NORWAY NOW FIGHT FOE AT NARVIK

spreading new ruin and churning the ashes and debris of former attacks.

Buildings were said to be smouldering and docks were a vista of tangled wreckage.

NAZIS RECAPTURE TOWN

The German lines of field gray-green moved relentlessly up the Glomma river valley toward Trondheim, scattering Norwegians before them. Roros, which the German advance guard had relinquished once, was reported recaptured.

Military observers said that the Norwegians could hardly hope to continue their resistance in central Norway without allied aid.

And it appeared on the basis of the latest reports of allied withdrawal that no such aid remained in Norway, save the forces ringing the German garrison at the sea port of Narvik, more than 400 miles north of Trondheim.

Between Trondheim and Narvik lies the most barren part of Norway—a strip of choppy coastline and tumbled terrain with but scant means of communication. The only rail line there goes directly east into Sweden.

With British and French help the Norwegians had been able to hold the Germans at Steinkjer but now that German reinforcements were flooding from the south and with the Allies gone all hope of resistance seemed lost.

The Germans were expected to push forward at Steinkjer immediately.

The last British in the area took to their transports a few hours after Prime Minister Chamberlain in London told Commons the British were abandoning the Andalsnes area.

The British and French troops in the Steinkjer region, based on Namsos, 35 miles further north, had the choice of giving battle to the Germans, who had gained full benefit of land communications and air bases in southern and central Norway, or of leaving by way of Namsos as the British did from Andalsnes yesterday.

A special correspondent for one Swedish newspaper, the Social Demokraten, had reported that both Namsos and Grong, 25 miles to the east, were bombed and machine-gunned by German warplanes both Wednesday and yesterday. He reported at least six casualties at Namsos, saying he could not immediately determine the total number.

He also reported great activity in this region, but he could not say whether the Allies were preparing for an offensive or a withdrawal. Later efforts to reach Grong failed when telephone operators said calls could not be put through because of "unexplained reasons."

The Germans pushed northward from the Oslo-fjord, now relieved of allied pressure in all southern and central Norway.

They were reported to be advancing quickly to take back such points as Roros and Trondheim in the Glomma river valley, which had abandoned Tuesday.

French Vow Norse War Will Be Pressed Harder

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 3—Fresh detachments of one of France's most famous forces—the famed Alpine Chasseurs—have landed at the northern Norwegian port of Narvik and entered a battle now raging on the outskirts of the town.

This was revealed today by a French war ministry spokesman who said the chasseurs have taken 18 prisoners already in hand-to-hand fighting at the edge of the iron ore city.

Narvik is now almost completely encircled, the spokesman said, and the fall of the German garrison there is expected soon.

Nazi Victories Shock to London

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—Today London newspaper military surveys credited German air power with the important victory in the second phase of operations, while giving British sea power the upper hands in the first phase.

The average Briton was shocked by Chamberlain's announcement of the withdrawal from southern Norway.

"It's bad, isn't it?" was a frequent comment.

The Evening News commented: "The man in the street will take a good deal of convincing before he joins Mr. Chamberlain's placid satisfaction that the balance of the advantage lies up to the present with the allied forces."

"Public opinion has received a shock," was the Star's view, "but it is certain the general effect will be to strengthen rather than to weaken the general determination that the campaign in Norway shall be continued with all possible vigor."

24 Dies Red Raids Ruled Illegal

PHILADELPHIA, May 3 (AP)—Federal Judge George A. Welsh ruled today that raids made on local offices of the Communist party and the International Workers Order by agents of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities last month were illegal.

BRITISH FEAR NAZI ARMIES PLAN TO INVADE SCOTLAND

LONDON, May 3 (INS)—The sensational suggestion that Nazi Germany planned or perhaps still plans an armed invasion of Scotland, which would be the first time foreign troops had actually set foot on British soil since 1066, was heard in London today.

Official and military circles flatly declined to discuss reports that British naval dispositions, predicated upon the possibility of an invasion of Scotland, made it impossible for Britain effectively to stem the flow of men and supplies from Germany to Norway by sea.

To have done so effectively, these reports said, major units of the British fleet would have been compelled to move into the Skagerrak and the Kattegat, heightening the vulnerability of the Scottish coast and possibly permitting German troops to land by sea or air in that region, bringing the war for the first time to British soil.

SINCE 1066

The Norman conquest at the Battle of Hastings in 1066 marked the last time invaders actually set foot on British land, although a Dutch fleet sailed up the Thames in 1664 and set fire to British ships when Charles II was at war with Holland.

Recent official British utterances make clear that Britain is not overlooking the possibility of some such German move. In his address to Commons yesterday, Prime Minister Chamberlain warned the German high command the Allies were ready for anything—including a "lightning blow" against England. Until today's reports circulated, however, it always was assumed that any such attack would be confined to the air. Now it appears the British fully realize the necessity of guarding home waters against any eventually, up to and including a sudden assault.

WONT DENY NEW RETREAT

Meanwhile a report from Swedish sources that British troops are withdrawing from the Namsos zone in Norway reached London but military authorities refused a confirmation or denial.

High authorities merely said there was "nothing further" to report from the Namsos area. It was assumed that British troops still are closing in slowly on Narvik.

Eventual disposition of the British forces evacuated from south Norway by way of Andalsnes was a strictly guarded secret. All quarters emphasized Chamberlain's declaration that comment must be deferred until "important operations" are completed.

It was learned that the Norwegian commander-in-chief had transferred his headquarters from the Andalsnes area to some other unspecified point from which he is directing continued Norwegian resistance.

Chamberlain's government will face its test on the Norwegian issue next week.

(Can Hitler invade Britain? Read in the Green Magazine of next Sunday's Boston Advertiser what the war correspondent of the London Daily Express says would happen if such an invasion were attempted.)

7 U. S. Pilots Train Canadians

TORONTO, May 3 (AP)—Seven United States pilots, mostly from New York, will act as "flying chauffeurs" at the Royal Canadian Air Force air observers' school at Malton, it was learned today. Although they will retain their United States citizenship and will not join the R. C. A. F., the men will fly planes in which air force members will get training as observers. They have been hired by the Canadian company operating the school under contract to the Dominion Government.

will find Germany prepared for a counter-blow."

The German high command concurrently announced rapid progress of the German forces in Norway in the clean-up against "isolated" resistance, acknowledged that the Allies were squeezing the Nazi garrison at Narvik, in the far north, and summarized claims of new blows against allied sea power.

In its daily front summary, this afternoon reported "lively" reconnaissance activity north of Steinkjer, 60 miles north of Trondheim.

Namsos, British foothold in that region, 35 miles north of Steinkjer, therefore seemed to be the goal of the German forces.

(A Stockholm dispatch earlier had reported the withdrawal of allied forces from Steinkjer and Namsos, leaving them only the far northern one port of Narvik.)

READY FOR BLOW

While the Germans were cleaning up Norway south of Trondheim, the high command said quiet prevailed north of Trondheim except at Narvik where "enemy forces were slowly advancing toward our positions north and southwest of the ore-shipping port."

Affirming German's readiness for any British counter-blow as a result of the Norwegian defeat, foreign office circles said:

"We ask Chamberlain before the world: Who is the next victim of British plans for widening the area of combat?"

"Is it Rumania? Greece? Yugoslavia?"

"Or is all this one gigantic bluff to camouflage plans elsewhere?"

"Is it another criminal plan coming from Churchill's brains for exerting pressure upon Italy?"

WEYGAND TRUMP CARD

"Is Weygand (Gen. Maxime Weygand, allied commander-in-chief in the Near East) a trump card to be played while meanwhile action is launched in an entirely different region?"

"We shall watch all this with icy cold deliberation."

"Wherever the British strike we will strike back."

"After his catastrophic defeat in Norway, Churchill is yearning for vengeance."

"He will try to equalize his defeat by success elsewhere, but we are forewarned and ready."

Authorized sources intimated the German intelligence service knows exactly where Britain is taking her forces from Norway.

In government circles, Chamberlain's speech is regarded as the "most embarrassing speech for him since the beginning of the war." He must do something, it was asserted, to save his prestige.

U. S. Sees Italian War Crisis Grave

culties. An Italy at war would raise these points for the United States:

1—More Americans by far are living there than in any other country in Europe. The State Department figure, as of January 1, was 19,561. Most would have to be got out, a formidable undertaking.

2—Italy is the outlet for the removal of Americans from other portions of the embattled continent, particularly Scandinavia.

3 CONTINENTS AT WAR

3—Italy is the principal country of call for American ships going to Europe.

4—If the Mediterranean becomes a combat zone, it will involve the continents of Europe, Asia and Africa. It will embrace more countries than the total of the two combat areas previously proclaimed for northern Europe.

5—Italy and the other countries embraced by this area contain a total of $8,000 Americans. The region exported $107,710,000 worth of goods to the United States in 1939 and in return spent $126,327,000 here on imports.

6—American ships now carrying strategic materials like rubber from the Far East have to use the longer sea route which passes the Cape of Good Hope, South Africa. Some 17,000 tons of rubber, obtained from Britain in a barter deal for supplies of American cotton, are now en route from British Malaya, mostly through the Mediterranean.

BLOW TO U. S. TRADE

War in the Mediterranean would have the effect of shutting off American ships from more than a dozen more countries — Albania, Bulgaria, Egypt, Turkey, Palestine, Greece, Italy, Rumania, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Morocco, Yugoslavia, Iraq, Algeria and Syria. Russia would block cargoes to Russia's Black sea ports. Trade with Hun territory would be difficult.

Shipping from eastern American ports to Iran (Persia), India and some to the Far East would have to be rerouted.

Italy is the United States' largest customer and supply source in the Mediterranean.

Allied Navy Move Seen As Pressure on Mussolini

ROME, May 3 (AP)—Reinforcement of the allied naval power in the Mediterranean was seen today as a move toward applying pressure on Italy for clarification of her "non-belligerent" status.

The allied action, announced yesterday by Prime Minister Chamberlain, left Italians outwardly calm and while Fascists insisted Italy is fully prepared to act the moment Mussolini should give the order, observers saw some evidence that that day is not looked for immediately.

With the liner Rex en route to New York and other crack Italian liners on the high seas, they considered a sudden move unlikely.

Anxiety in some quarters, however, was heightened last night when shipping circles in Genoa reported British vessels in that port had received orders to leave the Mediterranean at once, returning to England by way of the Suez canal. Today the British consul said he knew of no such orders.

Hitler Set to Crush Allied Move on Italy

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 3—Hitler is ready to stop the Allies with a mighty counter-blow if British moves in the Mediterranean materialize into warlike action against Mussolini, it was said in authentic Berlin quarters today.

Exact nature of the Nazi counter-attack is not known, but everything points to the fact that Germany has all her attention focused on the Mediterranean in the belief Britain plans some surprise move such as the occupation of Crete in an effort to "hamstring" Mussolini.

In this connection, authoritative Wilhelmstrasse quarters, in referring to Chamberlain's announcement that an allied battle fleet is en route to Alexandria, bluntly warned the prime minister against "extending the war to cover his Norwegian debacle."

The implication was given that Hitler and Mussolini have agreed in full detail on the procedure to be followed if a storm breaks in the south.

30,000 More Swiss Called to Arms

BERNE, May 3 (AP)—The Swiss government today ordered more than 30,000 additional reserve troops to report for active service between May 11 and 13.

Informed quarters said that reported concentration of German troops in Baden and Württemberg, near the Swiss frontier, led General Henri Guisan to recommend this further step in Swiss mobilization. Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 men are expected to be under arms by June.

RUMANIA SMASHES SPY RING

BUCHAREST, May 3 (AP)—Ing set confiscated.

Southeastern Europe's fluctuating fears of involvement in the European conflict centered today on alleged fleet movements in the Mediterranean and the reported smashing of a German "espionage center" in this Rumanian capital.

Police disclosed they raided the basement of a building near the royal palace in the heart of Bucharest where a number of German and Polish refugees were arrested and a wireless sending and receiving set confiscated.

Concurrently it was reported from Sibiu, Transylvania, that Rumanian counter-espionage had arrested and exiled a large number of German army officers. In addition, many householders of German descent, accused of sheltering the officers, were said to have been deported.

Unofficial sources said that wholesale expulsion of a great number of Polish refugees would start today. German diplomats have assured

Balkan officials that there is no "real peril" for this corner of Europe unless the Allies "provoke German action."

SAFETY LANES for pedestrians have been painted at a few Boston street intersections. The current city administration has made some progress.

But a great many—far too many—intersections have been neglected and consequently continue to be DEATH TRAPS.

Thousands of persons who are concerned with the preservation of their own lives and the protection of other people's want to know the reason.

Of course, Boston is more or less hard-pressed financially. And the Mayor is conscientiously trying to explain his budget headaches.

And everybody is listening and voicing some kind of opinion. Yet the grim, irrefutable, uncontradictable truth remains that BOSTON STILL HAS MONEY TO PROVIDE SAFETY FOR PEDESTRIANS.

TOO LATE TO SAVE THIS AUTOMOBILE VICTIM
But Not Too Late to Save Hundreds of Bostonians

Not so long ago the city succeeded in finding $16,800 to blast rocks for a sewer.

Of what benefit is a sewer to a pedestrian in a cemetery?

More recently, the economy-minded administration, looked around and located $9176 to raise the curbing on a Summer street bridge.

Of what use is a higher curbing to a dead pedestrian?

A few days later, the same administration tapped the treasury and produced $11,076 for ice cream.

Can a man, woman or child crushed to death by an automobile eat ice cream?

Possibly the above-mentioned expenditures are necessary. Possibly this fair city of ours could not get along satisfactorily without them.

But that hardly alters the fact that safety lanes for pedestrians are also necessary, especially so because the total cost of this protection would be several hundred dollars LESS than that of the blasting, the curbing and the ice cream.

AUTOMOBILES killed 12,500 persons who were walking on the country's streets and highways last year and injured 275,000 others.

In Massachusetts alone, 360 men, women and children met death in this manner, while 10,308 were hurt, scores of them maimed and crippled for life.

This year as many and probably hundreds more will suffer and die similarly UNLESS INTELLIGENT ACTION IS BEGUN BY CITIES LIKE BOSTON.

We have said this before and we unhesitatingly repeat it: The administration which refuses to provide safety lanes for all who walk is gambling wilfully and wantonly with the lives of the people it is supposed to serve.

Naturally, safety lanes will not prevent all accidents or restrain all reckless automobile operators.

There is still the problem of LAW ENFORCEMENT.

But safety lanes are the FIRST and IMPORTANT STEP.

MASSACHUSETTS LEADS in the prevention, treatment and cure of cancer. Such is the interesting and encouraging news from the State Department of Health, where Dr. Herbert L. Lombard reports:

"For the fifth consecutive year, we have maintained our record as the only place in the world with a falling cancer death rate in women."

Here, men and women are urged to visit their family physicians or clinics as soon as they suspect the presence of a tumor and not to wait until it has reached an advanced stage of growth and development.

The result is that hundreds who might otherwise be doomed are saved.

Fireworks

THE fireworks bright, a brilliant sight . . . illuminate the bowl of night . . . The rockets bursting in mid-air . . . fill all the heavens with their glare . . . In fiery radiance displayed . . . their golden showers to earth cascade . . . Then all is dark, except the far . . . dim sparkle of a faithful star.

Thus, in such splendor might at first . . . the planets and the stars have burst . . . through silent space to drift and fall . . . to make for gods high carnival . . . And will they too, some far off day . . . be dimmed, and, dying, fade away?

MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, May 3—I had the first horseback ride Wednesday morning in weeks, and it did seem good to go out and spend one hour in the open air.

This was not the only unusual occurrence of the day. I actually went to lunch with our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Miller. I can't remember doing purely personal and private things outside the White House for weeks. We had great fun and I left very reluctantly at 2:30, feeling that we had talked against time.

A FEW MINUTES at the Army and Navy relief society rummage sale with Mrs. Helm and Mrs. Charles Fayerweather, and then we drove to the Cathedral grounds where booths and a Maypole were set up.

Just as we arrived, it began to rain, one of those heavy showers which can be very devastating to a garden party.

At four o'clock, Mr. Melvyn Douglas and I boarded a plane for New York City and I had my first experience this year with the discomforts of living on Standard Time in one place and Daylight Saving Time in another.

It would seem that a trip which takes one hour and forty minutes and which begins at 4 p. m., should

MELVYN DOUGLAS
Flies From Capital

land you in New York City in ample time for a 7 p. m. dinner. When, however, you must reckon with Daylight Saving Time, it takes two hours and twenty minutes coming this way, so it was 7:45 when I reached the Hotel Astor for the dinner given by "The Nation" in my honor.

It never seems quite real to me to sit at a table and have people whom I have always looked upon with respect, admiration and considerable awe, explain why they are granting me an honor.

Somehow I always feel they ought to be talking about someone else. However, I walked away with the award in my hands and many kind speeches ringing in my ears.

I AM TAKING HOME one or two choice remarks made by Mr. William Allen White, which I know will give the President as much amusement as they gave me. Mr. Padman, the toastmaster, remarked that the free dinner tendered Mr. William Allen White was in recognition of the bed and board he supplied for so many of his hosts when they visited Kansas.

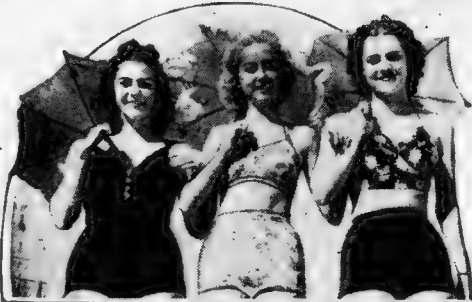

Anyone looking at Mr. White's kindly expression would know that he is a kindly and generous host.

I was happy to participate in the celebration of the 75th anniversary of "The Nation," quite aside from the personal angle of the evening, for this magazine has stood for freedom of thought and expression, and has often voiced the defense of ideas which could have had a hearing nowhere else.

TOO MUCH sun is bad, according to those who should know. It causes the spread of infections. All health departments should have the beaches placarded with sun-tan instructions . . . Unusually sharp table knives is the secret of the success of many restaurants specializing in steaks, chops and chicken . . . of her two husbands. If Ginger Rogers did that her name would be Ginger Pepper Ayres.

I AM ASKED for an epitaph for a dog. I think brevity is desirable in epitaphs. In the dog cemetery in Paris there is one which reads: "Ben-Bon. Always gay, faithful and affectionate." And another: "Mosque. I regret the passing of a faithful friend." And then there was William Watson's epitaph for his dog:

His friends he loved. His fellest earthly foes—
Cats—I believe he did but feign to hate.
My hand will miss the insinuated nose,
Mine eyes the tail that waggled contempt at fate.

DO YOU LIKE artichokes? If so, you may have my share. But it must be told the French expert, M. Lemery, referred to artichokes as "the stomach's best friend" and said they were particularly good for people who were "unduly phlegmatic and of a melancholy disposition" . . . So you're a quiz expert? All right. Who invented the income tax? It was Etienne Marcel of France and there's a statue of him in Paris . . . Listen to Dr. George Dorsey: "Give me a new born child and in ten years I can have him so scared he'll never lift his voice above a whisper, or so brave he'll fear nothing." STUDENTS CLAMOR TO HEAR GARFIELD

By Leonard Lyons

JOHN GARFIELD

NEW YORK, May 3—The newspaper published by the students at Stephens, in St. Louis, reports that eight girls had received a phone call from John Garfield. The article had contributed to a joint long-distance call to Garfield, who was unable to answer the phone. They wired him and asked him to notify them where and when he'd be available. All they wanted to do was to hear his voice. . . . The next evening the girls received the phone call. "Is this Mr. Garfield?" the caller was asked. . . . "Yes," he replied. Each of them then took turns at questioning him, and the story was duly reported in the school paper. "We did hear his voice," the girls attested, "and it was wonderful!" . . . If that voice was wonderful, then it's a surprising compliment to "Killer" Thomsen, who found only three jobs in Hollywood, now is Garfield's bodyguard—and is the one who called the girls.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, who has visited beauty parlors in every important city, received her most prolonged treatment at Ann Meredith's in Hollywood. . . . Mrs. Roosevelt was very patient, amused at the thought that here, where every notable from Constance Bennett to Mrs. Harrison Williams is rushed through treatments without any fuss, the attendants prolonged their service to keep her there longer. . . . Mrs. Roosevelt paid by check, but it was never cashed. That check is in a frame—facing the stars who enter, to notify them that Eleanor Roosevelt is the only true celebrity in Hollywood.

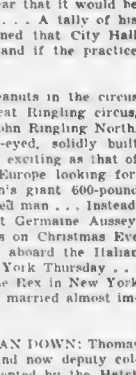

"VOICE OF EXPERIENCE"—Dr. Taylor has revealed to a friend the reason for Greta Garbo's sudden emergence from the solitude she had preferred. . . . Dr. Taylor is a friend of Gaylor Hauser, Garbo's constant companion. And it was he, "The Voice of Experience," who was responsible for literally breaking the ice—by treating her and simply advising that the best cure for Garbo's phobia about Solitude was to go out more often.

LAURENCE A. STEINHARDT, American Ambassador to Russia, will be en route to this country shortly. . . . Ferenc Molnar, the playwright, is ailing and is receiving medical care in his hotel room. . . . THERE is a physician living on the outskirts of Boston who quite often makes official pronouncements of death for the Boston police department. . . . Who is headed for trouble. Relatives of a number of persons who have died have resented the way in which he approached them. . . . And made it clear that it would be best to use one certain undertaker. . . . FRANCIS-PIDGEON NEW FILM TEAM

By Louella O. Parsons

KAY FRANCIS

HOLLYWOOD, May 3—Are Kay Francis and Walter Pidgeon going to be our newest movie team? Well, that is all right with me for I thought they were swell in "It's A Date." Evidently Universal did, too, for Kay gets the top femme lead opposite Walter in that opus of the bad men—"When the Daltons Rode." Can't remember ever seeing the well-groomed Kay in a western before, but a lot of our glamour girls are going in for the wide open spaces, including Marlene Dietrich, Miriam Hopkins and now La Francis.

Universal is setting great store by "When the Daltons Rode," for in addition to Kay and Walter the cast includes Brian Donlevy, Broderick Crawford, Robert Stack and Andy Devine. I want to say again how glad I am that Kay is making such a splendid comeback. She is wise not to hold out for starring roles but to accept the best parts in the best pictures that come along.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Gloria Dickson's birthday gift to Ralph Murphy, her current boy friend, is a ring; Louise Stanley is planning to make her separation from Addison Randall legal; Joan Crawford returns in a few days, pauses long enough to see "Susan and God"; and then takes a boat for Honolulu; Kay Francis and Rudolph Harkin dancing to Emil Coleman's music at Ciro's.

STEEFI DUNA with Gordon Selfridge at the Grace Hayes Lodge; Patricia Morison's mother underwent an appendectomy early yesterday; Dolores Del Rio on a diet of eight bottles of cream a day since she left the hospital. That ought to put weight on anybody; Betty Furness, happily married to Johnny Green, is paying Hollywood a visit and Johnny's good friend, Cesar Romero, is taking her out; Una Wyle, married to Lee Mortimer of the New York Mirror, opened at the Somerset House and brought out many of the Hollywood crowd; Rudy Vallee walked in at the same time his former heart, Pat Dane, arrived with Ken Murray. Rudy and Pat no speaker.

THE LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI-BENNY GOODMAN concert was well attended with fans of both maestros loudly applauding. The jitterbug contingent got mad over "Back Goes to Town," by Alex Templeton and Mary Martin's "My Heart Belongs to Buddy" won thunderous applause.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

"MISS STANLEY!" Counsellor Buffum's secretary appeared, as if from nowhere. In her wake was Nevins, junior partner.

"Oh, Miss Stanley, I'd like Abner Barton's will. There's a codicil, too."

"What's up?" asked Nevins, noting the tenseness in Buffum's voice. "Nothing serious, I hope. Likeable old codger!"

"He's dead!" Buffum pointed to the newspaper on his desk. "Burned beyond recognition in his car last night on the Post Road!"

"That's tough!" exclaimed Nevins. "Everything to live for and to live with."

"Not quite!" The senior partner's crisp words betrayed his deep personal feeling. "You didn't know his wife!"

NEVINS RAISED his eyebrows. "Don't tell me there was a triangle!"

"Of course not! But Mrs. Barton was a woman who had her way—and her way, HE ruled in Wall Street, but not in Scarsdale. If ever a martyr walked this earth, Abner Barton was one. Too bad he had to go like this!"

Miss Stanley deposited a ribboned envelope on the desk and withdrew as noiselessly as she had entered.

"The will is simple enough," confided Buffum as he removed two documents from the folder. "Boliver University gets a million; the residue goes to her. She'll net $50,000,000 after all taxes are deducted. The Judge of Probate will probably order the codicil impounded. It no longer has any legal effect; but it contains dynamite!"

NEVINS EDGED CLOSER as his partner scanned the codicil's limited lines.

"Here it is!" whispered Buffum, as he ran his finger along the faultlessly typed words:

"I take this means of emphasizing my purpose that the directions of my will shall be carried out to the letter. I have reasons to suspect that clause one of said will may be disregarded by my widow. If said clause is in fact disregarded, I leave her only what she would legally receive if I had made no will."

"What does clause one say?" The junior partner instinctively reached for the document.

Buffum's cheek blanched perceptibly. "Clause one reads, 'It is my wish that my body be cremated!'"

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

SNAP OUT of it, kids! Stop telling yourself you're the Lost Generation. Stop feeling you've been Done Dirt. Stop sulking about your Wrongs. You're kidding yourselves—and it's time someone called you bluff.

Maxine Davis hands it to you straight—and on the chin—in the May issue of COSMOPOLITAN. It's a fighting article, fighting the discouragement in yourselves—something which you're turning into one of the most vicious rackets in America.

"Too many young people today are making their youth an incubus career," says the writer.

"The generation which should be the strength and vision of the nation is becoming a chronic invalid, whimpering that it has been crippled by the economic system, whining that it is mistreated by its elders, and shrilly asserting its right to crutches."

MEANING WHAT? Meaning simply, darlings, that a lot of you are throwing a tantrum or going into the sulks simply because you're 17, and should have your ears knocked down.

I'm strong for youth. I have the good fortune to edit the largest journalistic youth department in the world today. I glory in American youth, its vigor and enthusiasm. But I could take a baseball bat to the adolescent cry-babies who think the whole world has handed them a marked deck, just because it can't get a job the first time it asks for it.

Why should you get a job the first time you ask for it? THE SIMPLE FACT IS YOU'RE NOT WORTH A JOB THE FIRST TIME YOU ASKED FOR IT. You don't know what life's all about. You can't be depended upon to carry on.

It takes patience and punch—something you won't develop for years. It takes staying power. . . . and philosophy and humor; something that has never yet appeared in young blood.

YOU'VE GOT to get over it, youngsters. The fact that you're 17 is no SPECIAL TREAT in this modern world. We've all been 17 once. We've all thrown tantrums once, too. And gotten our panties plenty well kicked for doing so. So here is my tip to you: with thanks to Maxine Davis.

Get out the sulks and GET GOING! Grab the FIRST JOB that comes!

IT MAY NOT BE MUCH OF A CHORE. BUT IT WILL PROBABLY BE BETTER THAN YOU ARE. AT THAT, YOUTH IS A NICE TIME. BUT ISN'T GOD'S GREATEST GIFT TO HUMANITY. NOT BY A DARN SIGHT!

Harvard Cracks Down on Rioters

Spring madness in Cambridge suffered a chilling setback today with announcement by Dean A. Chester Hanford that Harvard students who indulge in riots or other disturbances will be expelled.

The warning resulted from two clashes with Tech students in which the Harvard men came out second best. More than a score of them were stripped of their clothing on Wednesday night. The night before, ruckus was caused by Tech boys kidnaping "Rochester" radio and stage comedian, who was to have entertained the Harvard freshmen.

"Disturbances in the street, or in the public places are likely to lead to serious consequences," Dean Hanford stated. "A student who is guilty of an offense against law and order at the time of the disturbance may have his connection with the university severed."

"And the mere presence of a student may result in disciplinary action."

River Logs on $70,000 Spree

ASHLAND, Me., May 3—Two crews of workmen today battled to string heavy boom chains across the Androscoggin river and check possible loss of $70,000 worth of newly cut lumber.

More than 8,000 cords broke loose here with a roar as accumulating timber impelled by a five-mile an hour current snapped the restraining chain.

Unless stronger booms can harness the lumber at either Fort Fairfield or Presque Isle, officials of the Great Northern Paper Company fear a sixth of the supply gathered here will be swept across the international border and into the St. John river in New Brunswick.

Lawrence Starts Drive to Fill Jobs

LAWRENCE, May 3—In this city, periodically darkened by general unemployment, city heads today planned a general drive to find young women for jobs as cloth menders.

Social legislation banning payless apprentices and extending retirement benefits were factors in reducing personnel in this specialized art now below the demands of textile firms.

Funeral Tomorrow For Former Actress

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence A.P. Gilbert, 73, former actress and a charter member of Boston's Professional Women's Club, will be held from Allen's Funeral Home in Medford tomorrow at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose.

Mrs. Gilbert was the widow of James Gilbert, noted producer and director of musical comedy 40 years ago.

Until her retirement 25 years ago, Mrs. Gilbert took prominent roles in productions directed by her husband throughout the nation.

Born in Melrose, she lived in recent years with her son, Victor E. Gilbert of Wyman st., Medford. She leaves another son, James C. Gilbert of Denver, Colo.

RICHARD LANDER
SALEM, May 3—Funeral services for Richard Lander, 81, retired fire captain, were scheduled today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lillie O. Woodbury of Howard st. South Boston, father of Rev. Fr. Frederick T. McCarten, S. J., of the New England Jesuit Band.

Another son is Rev. Fr. Allan F. McCarten, O. M. I., engaged in missionary work in South Africa. Mr. Lander, who had been assistant night supervisor at Filene's for many years, also leaves three other sons and four daughters.

DANIEL M. COUSINS
MARLBORO, May 3—Funeral services for Daniel M. Cousins, 76, contractor and a resident here for 50 years, will be held from the family residence Saturday at 3 p. m. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

BESSIE DAWSON
IPSWICH, May 3—Funeral services were scheduled today for Miss Bessie Dawson, local agent and clerk for the board of public welfare.

BOSTON AFTER DARK

By JOSEPH CARTER

(Subbing for George Holland, who is on vacation)

gram Wednesdays over WEEI . . . Frank Maloney, the old Boston College football captain and coach, and Doc Harris are starting up the Old Club Crescent on Tremont st. again.

THE LADIES of the Crosscup. Pishon post of the Legion hold a rummage sale every year to send underprivileged children of veterans to their Sharon camp . . . This year, under Mrs. Lindley Bond, Mrs. George Wiswell, Mrs. John MacNeil, Mrs. Joseph Gavin and Miss Stella Rothwell, it will be held in Horticultural Hall May 14 . . . Last year 75 youngsters were sent to camp on the money from the sale.

Nature classes are the most popular activity there . . . The children capture beetles, toads, and so on, bring them to a shed to study, then turn them loose again . . . And they say one old toad on the grounds likes the regular meals that go with being studied so well that when no child captures him, he hops up to the shed himself and gives himself up!

THIS, FRANKLY, is no more than a plug for Taft Wright, who plays right field for Chicago; and it's because, while Chicago was winning up for a recent Sox game at Fenway Park, a fly ball was knocked to the outfield that some youngster caught . . . A policeman came over and made the boy turn the ball over to Wright. "Thanks," Taft said . . . He waited till the copper had gone about his business, then he went over to the boy and stuffed the ball in the kid's pocket . . . "For get it," he said, when the blushing youngster tried to thank him.

THE GIRLS from the Mayfair were standing outside the hotel where some of them live when a small fire broke out in an awning across the street . . . Enough apparatus came to put out a fire alarm fire in the Custom House, and the girls cheered . . . After a little while the fire was extinguished and the engines went away . . . So 15 minutes later the girls were still there, and the apparatus came whistling back . . . Seems the fire had broken out again . . . Eleanor Blackburn, captain of the line, winked at one of the firemen. "Even in the fire department they have dress rehearsals, yet," she shouted.

AT A BALL TONIGHT at the Intercolonial Building on Dudley st., Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., will announce his candidacy for representative in Ward 8 district . . . City councillor Bob Linehan of Ward 7 will lead a delegation from South Boston to demand a municipal building there when Mayor Tobin decides what to do with $800,000 of the White Fund in a couple of weeks . . . Federal Judge Hugh D. McFadden is already being mentioned for the vacancy in the U. S. Court of Appeals here that is coming soon.

DREYFUS PRAISED BY TOBIN

In appreciation of the fact that he today begins a new year of service as a trustee of the Boston City Hospital, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin offered the thanks of the city of Boston to Carl Dreyfus.

Dreyfus, Boston businessman, has for many years been a trustee of the hospital.

"Though I am aware that continued service on the board of trustees of the Boston City Hospital is a severe drain on your time and your personal services," Mayor Tobin wrote, "I am appointing you to serve again for a period of five years on this board."

"In the past 10 years, during the period of the depression, you and all officials of the hospital have been called upon to devote considerable of your time and energies to the expanded demands upon hospital facilities."

"Your service, so generously given, contributed in no small part in the upbuilding of our hospital as one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. You are certainly deserving of the gratitude of the citizens of Boston."

Fireman Injured In Garage Blaze

A fireman was injured during a spectacular two-alarm fire at the Jaquith & Co. garage in Woburn, with damage set at $10,000. The fireman, John McManis, suffered a lacerated hand. Eight trucks, two of which held scrap leather and grain, were badly damaged.

Pope to Help Pick Coast Fire Chief

Fire Chief Samuel J. Pope was in Los Angeles today to assist in the selection of a new chief for the fire department of that city. Nationally recognized as an authority on fire fighting, Pope went there at the invitation of California's state board of examiners.

Syrian Youth Excels In B. C.'s Gaelic Class

Boston College students learned with some surprise today that of all their number taking the new course in Gaelic the high ranking student was a youth of Syrian extraction, the only class member not of Irish descent.

Joseph O. Eblan of Mountain Avenue, Melrose, a junior, explained his paternal parents emigrated here from the Lebanon mountains of Syria and his mother's family is from Nova Scotia. He is studying French, German and Arabic, too, but of Ireland and its language he says: "I want to go there some day."

I have learned to love her history as well as her new language, and her patriots and authors are my heroes.

"When I am graduated from Boston College and if ever this present war ends, I intend to go to the University of Galway and really take up the study of Gaelic and Irish history."

Edison Warns Navy Vulnerable From Air

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

Special to the Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, May 3—Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison tossed a verbal bomb into Congress when he asserted that the Navy's warships need bolting against aerial bombs. Air power advocates were jubilant.

Just returned from the fleet maneuvers in the Pacific ocean, Edison told newsmen warships are vulnerable to air attack.

Communication, fire control and general operation of warships could be threatened with demolition by aerial bombs, in event of war, he warned. He made no forecast of war and spoke only for preparedness.

Redesigning of warships to get a much of the parts now above deck below deck was called for by Edison. Additional side armor also necessary, he said.

Edison's observations came amid growing demand in Congress for legislation to make certain that Administration's policy of re-arming American-made war planes for foreign countries, chiefly England and France, does not interfere with needs of the American Army and Navy.

Legislators revealed they have been clamoring for information on the effect of the policy of exporting sales to the Allies.

LODGE SUBMITS QUIZ

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (R.) of Massachusetts, disclosed he had submitted a series of questions to the Army Air Corps. Rep. Melvin T. Mass (R.) of Minnesota, a colonel in the Marine Corps Aviation Reserve, likewise said he had dispatched inquiries to the War and Navy departments.

Edison's statement, following testimony of navy admirals that the battleship is the backbone of the fleet, evoked from Senator Ernest Lundeen, Minnesota Farm-Laborer, blunt warning:

"The admirals can no longer huff off the fighting plane and bombers. Secretary Edison's statement is an admission that the war plane is king.

"You cannot have supremacy on the seas without supremacy in the air. I want a surface fleet but I insist a surface fleet is helpless without superiority in the air."

"Cheers for Secretary Edison. Here is a man with an inventor's genius, who has the courage to speak out against the antiquated ideas of the admirals. Edison's father, you know, was a great inventor."

MARSHALL "A WITNESS"

"We must concentrate upon improving our air power. But if the Administration is going to give all of our plane designs to foreign nations, we will not have the superiority in the air which is indispensable to our national defense."

Meanwhile, Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee behind closed doors on the House-passed military establishment appropriation bill.

Sen. Lodge was reported to have pined him with questions on the reported new policy of the Administration to release designs of army equipment, guns, tanks, etc., for purchase from American manufacturers by foreign countries.

Gen. Marshall was said to have replied that he was not informed of such a policy, but that he would look into the matter for the subcommittee.

Plot on King George Seen in Man's Arrest

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—It was disclosed today that a man was arrested last night at Euston Railway station and charged with possessing an "offensive weapon" shortly before King George VI and Queen Elizabeth arrived from Lancashire.

The identity of the prisoner was not disclosed, but he was scheduled to appear at Clerkenwell police court today.

THE RULES

1.—The Boston Record - American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employees of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $200 or more in any newspaper contest.

2.—Beginning Monday, Feb. 12, 1910, a Rebus puzzle will be published each week in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor c/o the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after the series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3.—One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. No prize does not count. Do not decorate your answers. A prize will be awarded to the contestant who achieves the highest score in the series of puzzles. In accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles without assistance in the office of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5.—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

6.—To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

8.—Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7.—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

How to Send in Your Answers

The six puzzles appearing from Monday through Saturday of each week comprise a series. This week's series (Puzzles 67-72) should be submitted any time before midnight, Saturday, May 11. Subsequent series should similarly be submitted within the week following publication of the series in the Record and American. (You can follow the contest in either paper.)

ENCLOSE TEN CENTS in coin with each series of six solutions, in accordance with the rules.

Sheriff to Be Speaker

The annual communion breakfast of St. Francis Court, No. 4, M. C. O. F., will be held Sunday in Knights of Columbus Hall, Tremont st., Roxbury, to be preceded by 6 o’clock mass at the Mission Church, Roxbury.

Suffolk County Sheriff Frederick R. Sullivan will be principal speaker at the breakfast. Other guests will include:

Rev. George A. Conway, C. S. R.; Mayor Tobin, a member of the court; William G. O’Hare, executive director of public welfare; Transit Commissioner Daniel P. McHugh; High Vice-Chief Ranger William H. Harrison, Jr.; and High Outside Sentinel Andrew J. Giambon.

The breakfast committee includes Chief Ranger John F. McCarthy, chairman, John P. Kelley, John J. Connolly, Joseph E. McManus, James E. Fitzgerald, Joseph A. Copenrath, George B. Golan, Patrick A. Cronin and Herbert Hoover.

NEW YORK VISITORS

Mrs. Franklin T. Pfister, Mr. and Mrs. Channing Cox, Mrs. Herbert Bowden and Mrs. Walter F. Waters, all of Boston, are spending a few days at the St. Regis Hotel in New York.

Handling Side Dishes

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

1—In a large dining room we were each served a medium sized steak. We were also served some French fried potatoes on a small plate and buttered peas in a side dish.

Please tell me if it is correct to pick up the small plate and place some of the potatoes on the plate with the steak. Or to eat them directly from the plate on which they were served?

2—Is it correct to eat the peas with a fork or spoon?

3—On the right of your plate for above your plate there is usually a small serving spoon. This should be used with your fork to take from the small plate a service of the French fried potatoes to put on the dinner plate with your steak. You should not “pick up” the small plate and you should not “slide” the potatoes from the plate on which they are served to your dinner plate. Use the serving spoon and fork the waiter will supply them if they aren’t placed for you.

4—Use a fork for eating peas. But if they are served in milk or cream, you’ll have to use a spoon.

AFTER EATING

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

After one has finished eating, how are the knife and fork placed on the dinner plate?

6—V. Place the knife and fork together, parallel to each other, in the center of the plate; the handles turned slightly toward the right.

N. Y. Nazi Guard 2 Rare Heart Cop Kills Self Operations Save Man

NEW YORK, May 3 (INS)—Police Capt. Max Finkelstein, commander of the All-Jewish police guard once posted at the German consulate, shot and killed himself today a few hours after he had been linked to the Brooklyn bail bond racket inquiry.

Only yesterday Finkelstein had applied for retirement on a $2,000 yearly pension. Police Commr. Valentine at first approved the application, but revoked it last night and ordered the captain back on duty.

WOBBURN FIREMAN INJURED

John McMaster, a fireman, was injured as a two-alarm blaze swept Jaquith’s Garage 12 Jefferson ave., Woburn, today and caused damage of $10,000.

DALLAS, May 3 (AP)—Doctors have performed two rare operations on Robert Estrada’s heart in recent weeks.

Estrada’s heart was ripped by a knife as he sought to separate two men in a fight. Parkland Hospital doctors stitched his right auricle between spurts of blood.

After he was discharged from the hospital he became ill of pneumonia. His heart developed an aneurysm, which is similar to a bulge in a weak spot in an inner tube.

Fearing the bulge would rupture, doctors opened Estrada’s chest again. Around the narrow neck of the bulge they tightly tied ligatures. The aneurysm was opened while the heart throbbed, and a clot that had formed was removed.

Estrada was reported “doing well.”

Love And Marriage Inquisitive 'In-Laws'

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

What can be done about in-laws who insist on calling your car a "junk heap" because it's five years old—and paid for? They want to know what salary we make and how much has been paid for this and that, in front of other relatives and friends. Naturally, we don't care to discuss all of our business affairs.

Outside of being rude and inquisitive they are really nice people. What shall we do? Ignore their questions, say "it's none of your business," or tell all?

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Why not try a little mild sarcasm? Say the five-year-old car cost $100,000, part of which has been paid. That it holds up well because you drive soberly and carefully. As you say they're nice people. I wouldn't quarrel with them outright. But you should not feel obliged to submit yourselves to their inquisitiveness.

She Wouldn't Listen To Explanations

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 20 years old and have been going with a girl of 18 for almost a year. We always had such good times together, and never seemed to have any disagreements.

A week ago I couldn't keep my date with her, as it was impossible to do so. I called her on the phone next day, but my explanations were of no avail. I called again, but she said she thought it would be better for us if we did not see each other again.

I just can't understand it, it came so suddenly. I had no idea of a thing like this, as she always treated me wonderfully.

IN A MIDDLE.

What excuse did you give her for failing to keep this date? "Impossible" might mean anything. If you really care about this young lady, why don't you go to her personally and talk it out fairly and candidly. You've gotten nowhere on the phone. You will only make things worse by pursuing that course. Go up to your guns like a man.

By BETTY ALDEN

TOMORROW EVENING a new flock of society girls will emerge from the comparative seclusion of their family circles into the public eye for a year of partying and dancing . . . These are the debutantes of the 1940-41 season which officially opens at the Empire Junior Dance given at the Hotel Vendome to benefit the Bryn Mawr Regional Scholarship fund . . . The dance also marks the swan song of the deb season of the girls whose pictures you've been seeing in the papers all winter . . .

Four pretty new debts will be joint hostesses at one of the largest dinner parties before the dance . . . The dinner will be at Brae Burn Country Club and the hostesses—Emily Garritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Garritt of West Newton; Cynthia Vose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Vose of Chestnut Hill; Mary Favorite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Favorite of Brookline, and Marjorie Ober, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius E. Ober of Brookline . . .

Among their guests will be debutantes Priscilla Ireland, Lee Burnett, Lee Stowell Cullen, Mary Phyllis Coe, Ann Clark, Nancy Wyeth, Nancy Bernard, Nancy Wilbur . . . and their partners will include Stephen Bittenbender, Stuart Pratt, Stuyvesant Fish, Richard Barrows, George Waters, Russell Fry, Robert Barnett and Henry Reed . . .

Newport Estate Leased

MRS. GEORGE TYSON of Louisburg square and her sister, Mrs. George Mesta of New York, have leased their summer estate, Beachmond, one of Newport's famous landmarks, to the Widener family of Philadelphia . . . For the first time since they became owners of the beautiful Colonial structure overlooking Bailey's Beach, the sisters will not spend the summer in Newport . . .

Instead they have planned a long and scenic trip . . . Mr. and Mrs. Tyson and their children, Harriet, Robert and Williams, are leaving Boston, June 20, for the first lap of the journey which will take them to Jaspas National Park and Alaska, thence to San Francisco and Hawaii . . . Mrs. Mesta will attend the Republican National Convention before joining them in the West . . .

Mrs. Tyson is the former Mrs. Skirvin Adams of New York . . . Since her marriage to Mr. Tyson in September, 1937, her children have been adopted by him and now bear the Tyson name which stands for everything distinguished and aristocratic in Boston.

Romance

Myron Wick, Jr., to Take Bride

MYRON WICK, Jr., who was a popular member of the stag line at all the big Beantown debutante parties during his undergraduate days at Harvard, has chosen the beautiful Elizabeth Dillingham as his future bride.

Elizabeth, daughter of the sugar plantation Dillinghams of Honolulu, has often been a guest at Boston parties and was here last winter for Dorothy Gannett's lavish debut ball.

She is studying at Sarah Lawrence College and has been joined in New York by her mother, Mrs. Walter Dillingham. Before entering Sarah Lawrence she attended Foxcroft School in Virginia.

Myron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Arms Wick of Cleveland. His father is nationally prominent as a steel executive.

42 Action, Music, Comedy For Para-Fenway Fans

There are enough favorites on Paramount and Fenway screens at present to make up a good-sized Hollywood rally.

In "An Angel from Texas," made from one of the earlier George S. Kaufman stage hits, are Eddie Albert, Rosemary Lane, Wayne Morris, Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan, not to count John Lelie, Ruth Terry, Herbert Cavanaugh and Tom Kennedy. And then, whoopee! Thou come Jane Wyman and the incomparable, irreproachable Gene Autry in a western picture with songs, "Shooting High."

In "Angel From Texas" the darling Miss Lane is the girl who comes from the Lone Star State to that wicked New York to capture stage honors, leaving her boy friend Eddie Albert behind. She manages to get a job at last as secretary for a couple of shoe-string show men, played by Reagan and Morris, and then, bang! on comes the climax in hop, skip and jump style when the Texas boy friend comes to town to buy a hotel and marry the heroine, and the shoe-stringers try to take him for a ride. The city slickers are completely outsmarted. Rosemary and Eddie become Broadway stars. Nothing could be merrier or nicer.

This is the character that Ben Davis asked to play, but Jack Warner voted against having Bette and Jimmy Cagney in the same picture. Then came the rumors that Hal Wallis was trying to borrow Alice Faye or Ginger Rogers—but last night, after this sneak preview of "Torrid Zone," Hal decided that the oomph girl could play the part.

It's the blazest chance Anne has had and it is given her partly as a reward for the fact that she never squawks nor walks out on a picture, which seems to be a weakness with Warner leading ladies. There's a chance that Oscar Romero, who has lanced as much with Ann as Ciro's, may set the part of the male dancer in this picture.

"ANYTHING exciting?" Padding into the kitchen, Jane started to squeeze oranges without waiting for a reply. The question was mere routine. Because there never was anything exciting in the morning mail, not for unspectacular girls like you, pretty in a dull way. Things were different with Lucille, of course. She had a bright blonde beauty that made her a highly successful model. Everything from corsages to proposals came her way!

"I'll say!" Lucille expelled her breath in a whistle. "Pop's done us dirt, Jane. He's married again..."

"Married?" Jane couldn't take it in. Why, Pop was in Detroit, as he always was at this time of year, selling refrigerators. Then he'd go to Chicago, and after that... "Not even a widow, either!" Lucille snorted. "Someone called Cora Miller. He says she's 28 and lives in Greenville." Her lovely eyes narrowed. "That's a help. Jean Emmott's gone to live in Greenville... she can send us some dope about Cora..."

But Jane wasn't thinking about Cora. Pushing the orange juice mechanically under Lucille's exquisite nose, she was thinking of Pop. It seemed fantastic, his marrying. And yet... why not? Mom had been dead nearly 10 years, and Pop was only 43. Good-looking, too. If they didn't mind quietness and reserve, a lot of women might fall for him.

Lucille stared across at Jane, and her lovely face softened suddenly. "I'm sorry for you, kid! This doesn't really affect me, because I'll be marrying Jerry soon. But I... I sort of thought of you as a fixture here..."

"I know," Jane smiled bleakly. She, too, thought of herself as a fixture in their Morristown house. Not that she wanted to spend her whole life with Pop. Naturally, she wanted to marry. She was genuinely domestic, and crazy about kids.

But, somehow, nobody'd ever asked Jane to marry him. Perhaps because Lucille put her in the shade. Lucille didn't mean to take the spotlight; it just happened.

So Jane had not rather used to not having anyone. She'd begun to look on this house as hers. And she expected to go on living here, doing as she liked with things...

A NEW MISTRESS

No chance of that, now, with Pop bringing a wife. She'd have to clear out. Live in a girl's club, or share an apartment with some girl friend. Or... stay here, with Cora as mistress of the house!

"You could live with Jerry and me," Lucille said, reading her thoughts. "Only he may be moved to San Francisco... and I know you don't want to give up your job here!" She smiled. Lucille always found Jane's job rather comical. She was assistant to a popular dentist who specialized in children's work. "Gosh, I hope you like Cora, if you have to live with her!" Suddenly she pushed Pop's letter across. "But there's another snag, Jane. She's got an adopted boy, Pop says. Her sister's son."

"A little boy?" Jane seized the letter, but it didn't seem more than that. "But I've never expansive."

"But I... I'd like that. I like kids." Her spirits rose as she hurried into street clothes and started for work.

Lucille liked children, too. But a different kind. She fell for the French-frocked picturesque type, with governesses and dancing lessons and beautiful manners!

Not Jane. Jane liked normal kids. Especially boys. Teeth little chaps with a swagger and missing teeth. Like the eight-year-old who was in yesterday to have a wobbly tooth pulled. You could hardly see him for freckles... but there was something lovable about the way he set his little jaw and clung to Jane's hand as if he were drowning...

He was nice, with that plain, frank face and the worried brown eyes. Not Lucille's usual type.

Cora wouldn't be so hard to take, with a little boy!

The idea buoyed Jane up, until Lucille had Jean Emmott's reply a few days later. The reply that brought illusions crashing!

"Jane's never seen Cora, Lucille said, skimming the letter quickly. "But a friend of hers works in a photographer's in Greenville, and she remembers Cora Miller. Says she's the gushy, feminine type, jingling with bracelets..."

"That might be another Cora Miller," Jane said feebly. "Not a chance, in a small town like Greenville. This is our Cora a'right. She came to have a miniature done, of her adopted son. And he's one of those angel brats with goo-goo eyes and golden curls."

"Oh, no!" Jane grabbed the letter, her heart sinking.

"I don't think you'll be able to stick it here, honey," Lucille said, anxiously. "You and Cora don't sound as if you'd get along."

Jane winced. They wouldn't get along, she was sure.

On Saturday, before breakfast, Pop's laconic telegram arrived: "Expect to return tonight."

NEWLYWEDS RETURN

"Tonight," Lucille glared at it, indignantly. "Of all nights, to pick out Saturday! Well, we just won't be here!"

"Won't be here?" Jane gasped. "But we can't go out, Lucille. We've got to stay and... and welcome them!"

"We never have stayed in for Pop, in the past," Lucille said, sensibly. "We're too used to his comings and goings. As for her—well, he didn't consider us when he married. He didn't even tell us a thing about her. He's kept the whole thing dark, until it suited him..."

"He may have felt—embarrassed room. Lucille was the belle, as usual. No one ever could compete with Lucille. But she, Jane, was looking particularly nice herself to-night. If she stayed, she might have quite a good time when the dancing started. And that dark boy looked as if he might be interested...

Then, at 9:30, she won a table prize.

"Catch it, Jane!" Angela flung it over, and Jane caught it, amid laughter. A pink elephant. Velvet and soft and cuddly and enormous.

She was hugging the pink elephant to her, when she thought of Cora and Pop again. Cora and Pop... and the angel child! Somehow the pink elephant reminded you of Cora's golden-haired boy. It was just the sort of thing a kid like him would like.

LUCILLE'S BEAU

"Miss Stewart?" A man's voice, over to Lucille to tell her she was leaving.

"Oh, for Pete's sake!" Lucille stared at her disgustfully for a second. Then she laughed. "Okay, then. You would be happy till you're home, I suppose."

There was somebody on the step as she hurried up the path, tucking the pink elephant under her arm and fumbling for her key.

"Miss Stewart?" A man's voice, young and pleasant. One of Lucille's beaux, no doubt. "I've rung twice..."

"I'm Lucille's sister... she's out playing bridge."

The key slipped out of her fingers, clattering to the step. Both of them bent to look for it in the dimness. With disastrous results... because both of them straightened up at the same time, Jane's forehead cracking against the young man's jaw.

"Oh, gosh, I'm sorry... I should have looked..." He was terribly upset.

"No damage done!" Jane managed to laugh, but winced as she put her hand to her head; there was going to be a beautiful lump! "Will you... will you open the door? I feel a bit dizzy..."

"Little boy?" The young man interrupted her, his face red with embarrassment. "I say, there's been a mistake somewhere. If you're talking about Cora Miller... well, I'm the little boy. I'm John, her sister's boy..."

"You?" Jane stared. "But you can't be a friend of Lucille's. She lives in Greenville... she knows Cora. She even saw a miniature of Lucille boy..."

"Oh, that!" He was more embarrassed than ever. "Cora had the made, wanted it for her birthday. They copied it from a picture taken when I was a kid. Cora always liked the sappy picture!" He grinned apologetically. "She's very feminine and sentimental... she's a swell person. You'll like Cora!" The smile died. "She's done everything for me, since I lost my people..."

"You're the little boy!" Jane giggled, it did seem ridiculous. "Why, I... I've even made a bed up for you, and left you fairy tale books in the room..."

JANE'S TYPE

"Oh, I shan't be living here!" He shook his head. "Haven't lived with Cora since I got a job in the P. & L. Service. I've got rooms on the other side of town. Cora phoned me tonight, to say they were due at midnight. They missed the connection. They phoned you, but you weren't in... so they asked me to drop in and tell you..."

Later, as they had coffee together in the snug warmth of the kitchen, John looked at her mischievously.

"Jane, I almost wish I were a little boy, if it meant staying here and having you read bedtime stories to me!" He grinned happily at her. "You're a grand gal. I hope we're going to like each other a lot!"

Jane nodded. Oh, they were. It didn't even matter that Lucille was prettier and gayer. Lucille would not interfere with this. Because this young man wasn't Lucille's type, anyway. He was hers. And she, she felt instinctively, was his.

THE END

Don't miss Charles McGovern's thrilling story on this page tomorrow. The title is "Johnny Rides Em." And it's about a boy who wants to be a jockey because his father used to be one.

Cora's Little Boy

for Pop and Cora. Flowers, and stuff to eat, and the table fixed—that sort of thing. And a note. She grinned into Joan's worried face. "That's more than he deserves—why, he hasn't even said what time they're coming..."

Jane did feel badly at the bridge party. No matter how hard she tried to keep her mind off Pop and Cora she couldn't succeed.

But they spoiled her evening. True, she'd left the living room radiant with flowers. And she'd fixed the spare room bed for the little boy, and put out some of Lucille's and her childhood books for him. And written a warm little note to Cora, explaining their absence.

But it still seemed a rotten thing to do. To let Pop walk back into his house and find neither of his girls there. Cora'd wonder—Cora might even be hurt—those fussy, feminine types were sensitive...

With an effort she pulled her thoughts back to the party. It was a good party... six tables, some nice young men, and an impromptu dance to follow down in the game Inside, she went into the living room, switching on a lamp. Her head began a savage throbbing.

"I started to tell you Lucille's out playing bridge," she said shakily, motioning him to a chair. Suddenly she realized she was still holding the pink elephant under her arm. "I was playing, too. I won this..."

"Nice going!" But the young man was still worried. "But, listen, can't I get you something? Drink of water maybe..."

"I'm okay. The ache dying down a bit!" Jane smiled at him, looking at him thoroughly for the first time. He was nice, with that plain, frank face and the worried brown eyes. Not Lucille's usual type, though, not sophisticated enough. A thoroughly nice sort.

She flinched, remembering that she was stalling.

"I dashed home because we're expecting my father... and his new wife," she said shyly. "She has a little adopted boy... and I thought he'd like this!" She put the pink elephant on the floor. "It is the sort of thing he'd like..."

Private Lives: Lefty And Jimmy at Home

WHEN TOM YAWKEY'S MILLIONS REUNITED Jimmy Foxx and Lefty Grove, whose early beginnings were set in the Maryland mountains, less than 100 miles apart, he brought together two singular characters who have led parallel athletic lives.

AUSTEN LAKE

terraces and trimmed with hedges.

I mention this to show the transition of the two veterans who started life on the same humble plane at about the same time and used their fortune to different ends. For Grove's home is a humble frame cottage on the high hump of a Blue Ridge mountain that looks down on timbered slopes and silver ribbon of river. And he dresses in hillbilly dungarees and has the regional look of unsatisfied hunger in his lean face and the fevered eye of the mountain-born men.

Most of the time between October and March, he carries a shotgun in the crook of his elbow, as generations of Groves before him toted their squirrel rifles and powder flasks, beating the dogwood and juniper bushes for wild turkeys that feed on the buds. And, long ago, he told me, "When you hear those houn's a piece away they sound like church bells on Sunday morning." He loves it!

BUT FOXX, AND A JOVIAL GENT HE IS, lives in halls so large that his voice comes bouncing back from the corners. He has lush carpets on his floors and crystal and polychrome on the walls. His dress is that of a landed esquire, cut jauntily, and his is the placid manner of a leisured socialite with a fondness for light, laughter and friends.

Lefty's and Jimmy's opposite tastes trace to different angles of life that each sees. For Grove, after the habit of his hill people, who have wrestled a meagre living from their unfruitful mountains, has a resentful affection for his crags and tilted town and an inherent distrust of strangers. So that, during baseball seasons, he is sometimes dour and distant, though in later years he has become more mellowed and social.

But Foxx was always a bland, blue-eyed and cheerful type, still with a rustic stamp of simplicity, a quick grin and a ready hand for everybody. Sulderville, Md., is a grassland country where he was born and where his father and brothers still tend the dairy

BIMELECH SPEEDY IN DERBY WORKOUT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—Col. Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech, odds-on favorite for tomorrow's 66th running of the Kentucky Derby, was the first entry for the race dropped in the box when the racing secretary's office opened at Churchill Downs today.

The second entry in the box was that of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallahadion, with Carroll Bierman the jockey to ride him in tomorrow's big race.

The stable agents, rather than the trainers, put the entries in the box in each case. Mose Cossman handled the chore for Bimmie and

BULLETIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—Bimelech, odds-on favorite for tomorrow's Kentucky Derby, had his final "blowout" today and the clockers gasped at his speed. He went three furlongs in 36 1-5 seconds and pulled up the half mile in 49 3-5 seconds.

Nelly Clendennin reported the entry of the son of Sir Gallahad III, who ran second to the Bradley colt in Tuesday's Derby trial mile. Freddie Smith, the Cuban-born

Three Stars Shoot at Record In 3000 Meters

MINNEAPOLIS, May 3 (AP)—A new world's 3000 meter record is the goal of three outstanding distance runners in a special exhibition race in Memorial Stadium here tomorrow afternoon.

In the race will be Taisto Maki, the Finnish ace, Greg Rice, the former Notre Dame star, and Walker Mehl, University of Wisconsin ace.

The present world record for the 3000 meter event, 8 minutes 14.8 seconds, is held by Gunner Hockert of Finland.

St Anselm's Loses Gridiron Star

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 3 (AP)—Faced with its heaviest gridiron schedule in its history, St. Anselm football hopes suffered an unexpected loss today with the departure from school of Elwood Mills, 190-pound power runner, from the Mashpee Indian reservation near Falmouth. Mills was a sensation on the freshman team last fall.

Amputation for Baseball Scout

JEROME, Idaho, May 3 (INS)—Another leg amputation was believed necessary today to save the life of C. C. (Chick) Fraser, western scout for the New York Yankee baseball club. In critical condition from blood infection, Hospital doctors already have severed Fraser's right leg in an effort to save his life.

Down to Wire Fight Seen for A. L. Flag By Red Sox Skipper

By BILL GRIMES

"After looking over the American League standing," declared Manager Joe Cronin this morning, "I'm firmly convinced that there are no soft touches in our loop and that we'll have to bear down from the first pitch to the final put out in both games to take the measure of Fred Haney's St. Louis Browns."

"I'm well aware of the fact that the Browns got an even split with the Yankees, and more over that they knocked off Charlie Ruffing. It took a five-hit game by Monte Pearson to take the Browns 5 to 3 in their second game of their series. And, even that outright exhibition might not have paid off if the world's champions hadn't jumped on Elden Auker for three runs in the opening inning.

FIGHT TO THE WIRE

"As I see it, the American League race will be a battle right down to the wire. It's been underway for a fortnight, yet there is a gap of only four and one-half games between the first and seventh place clubs. And, Jimmy Dykes has a better club than his position in standings would indicate. The White Sox are a great offensive club and if they get the pitching will be tough to beat. I'm glad they're out of here until we get straightened away.

"I'm going to send Jim Bagby after the Browns this afternoon. He has looked good all spring and but for that one jam he eased himself into down in Philadelphia, he'd have had a perfect record. Bagby is a much better pitcher than he was last season. And, I'm banking on him to win his share of games for us this year.

GALEHOUSE FOR TOMORROW

"Just to prove that I'm not taking the Browns lightly, Denny Galehouse will be on the mound tomorrow afternoon. Anytime I assign pitchers of the Bagby and Galehouse type to work against the Browns, you know that I've great respect for that club.

"Right now, it looks like I'd come back with Mickle Harris on Sunday, when we take on the Cleveland Indians.

"Oscar Vitt has a hustling ball club, one which is capable of knocking off any club that isn't right at the peak of its game. But that will depend on Mickle's physical condition. He hasn't been in uniform since his victory over the Athletics.

"He was suffering from a cold entering that game but he's a game kid, one who is anxious to make the grade and a little handicap such as a chest cold didn't mean a thing to him. His ailment is pretty well cleared up, unless he caught more yesterday, and his ankle is much improved according to Greese.

HASH PLEASED CRONIN

"Yes, I was pleased in Herb Hash's showing. True, he had a comfortable lead to work on when he took over for Grove. But if he didn't have the stuff, he'd have had little trouble to back his advantage. Instead, he held the White Sox to one hit.

"Of course, Hash's pitching in Philly was even more impressive. He replaced Jack Wilson in the 10th and allowed the Athletics only one hit in three rounds. We were leading 4 to 1 with two out and nobody on in the 8th when the A's came up with five hits, four off Denny Galehouse, who was relieved by Jack Wilson. During those three innings, Hash showed me that he has what it takes.

"So, if you analyze Hash's last two relief performances, you'll discover that he has pitched eight innings and has allowed no runs and only two hits. It's difficult to improve on such performances." Manager Fred Haney and his Browns were rained out yesterday in New York and they arrived in town late last night.

Sluggers' Collapse Wrecking Yankees; Good Hurling Lost

By ED KIELY

International News Service Sports Writer

Baseball's ancient axiom that "you gotta have the pitching" doesn't apply to the present plight of the New York Yankees.

Today the four-times world's champions were in a fifth place in the American League mainly because their heavy-hitting attack has failed to function. Meanwhile, the Yankee hurlers have been allowing the opposition very few runs per game, but the hitherto home-run hitting New Yorkers can seem to collect

Thus far in the infant campaign not one of the Barrow bomber regulars is hitting .300 or better, and George Selkirk is leading the daily toilers in the batting department with a paltry .275 average.

ROSAR SOLE SLUGGER

Buddy Rosar, a utility catcher, is the only member who has given any indication of the Yanks' former power at the plate. Rosar is hitting a lousy .571, but he has played in only three games.

Four sluggers—Crossetti, Dickey, Gordon and Dahlgren—all are batting below the .200 mark, and Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' Mr. Big, is out of the lineup, indefinitely, with injuries.

Yesterday the Yanks' game with the St. Louis Browns was rained out, as was the Chicago-Boston game at Boston and the Cleveland-Philadelphia game at Philadelphia.

SIX-HITTER FOR ROOKIE

Rookie Harold Newhouser twirled a six-hitter as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Washington Senators, 5 to 3. Rudy York contributed a two-run homer to help the youngsters gain the victory.

In the only game in the National League, Manager Ray Blakes continued to juggle his St. Louis pitching corps without success. He started Curt Davis, switched to Clyde Shoun in the fifth and ended up with rookie Harry Brecheen on the hill.

Still the Giants, paced by Mel Ott and Nick Witek, who hit homers, won 7 to 4. This was Shoun's eighth relief trick in 11 games.

All other scheduled contests were postponed.

GIANTS SHOW SIGNS OF 3D PLACE CLASS

It doesn't pay to become too enthusiastic about a baseball club winning one game, according to the Associated Press. In fact, no one knows right now whether it's worthwhile getting excited about a team winning nine games—even in a row.

Yet a glance at the National League standings today will show anybody interested that the New York Giants are in third place and a thought about the manner in which they subjugated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4 yesterday might convince some that they may stay there.

EXTREMIST TEAM

The Giants this year have one of those "extremist" teams. The veterans are too old and the rookies are too young. But the graybeards are filled with enthusiasm and the right mixture can be powerfully explosive.

Making a delayed start against their western opposition of the season, the Giants got 14 hits.

In addition, they got one of the best jobs of relief pitching any team in the big leagues has received this season. Lefty Cliff Melton took charge with none out in the third and proceeded to hurl for six innings, giving up only two hits.

HITS IN FIVE GAMES

In the last five games the Giants have amassed a total of 55 hits. They have proven pitching strength. And aside from dropping three games to the Brooklyn Dodgers during the red-hot streak of the latter, they have lost only one game this spring.

As pointed out, the balance between age and youth on the club isn't good enough to make it a pennant contender, but the way they mauled those Cardinals shows they have the stuff fans expect of a first division club. There's not likely to be anybody in front of the Giants except the fellows who are fighting for the flag.

We're stubborn about this thing

Yes, we're just stubborn enough to use only Hops, and Barley-Malt in our brewing—and no other grain! That makes us old-fashioned in this respect—but gives you the old-fashioned Malt Beer flavor most folks yearn for.

Here it is, an import-style beer at American prices—with a flavor that you can't find elsewhere, because only Trommer knows its secret, and only Trommer can brew White Label Malt Beer.

Today, try White Label — then Taste . . . and Compare!

This beer is made solely from hops and barley-malt and no other grain and is therefore a "malt" beer. This is the way fine imported beers are brewed; it is the distinction which, in popular opinion, sets Trommer's apart as a more palatable and thoroughly satisfying brew.

Photographer Simard Catches Two at Sutton

By DARK MONTREAL

News Cameraman Harry Simard of Beaumont is one of those unsmiling Calvin Coolidge types who look most woebegone and glum when they're really all seething and bubbling internally with joy and pride and triumph.

So when Harry came back this week from a fishing trip to Singletary Lake in Sutton, where he has a camp, his outward air of gloom and martyrdom fooled few if any of his associates.

CAMERA DOESN'T LIE

The truth was revealed with the developing and printing of a roll of Kodak film shot by Harry's brother, Dave. One of the pictures showed Harry, four or five feet high, in a slightly more than a half dozen faintest trace of a cat-that-gobbled-the-canary smirk on his dead pan, holding aloft two fine, new caught squaretail trout.

Harry was the only lucky member of his party at Lake Singletary. And no doubt if he had managed to land a half dozen more finny prizes, he'd have broken down and sobbed—in sheer ecstasy.

Fred Campbell of East Braintree found fast fishing on the Plymouth river in South Weymouth this week.

He said he took his limit in slightly more than an hour of 15 trout he brought to net, 14 were stocked fish, one a native.

LUCK RAN OUT

Campbell was using a worm and spinner.

Just to prove there was luck as well as skill in his full crew, he drew a blank in the same waters the next day. This second time, he had Boston news cameraman Bill Jones with him—bent on fishing, not taking pictures—and neither Fred nor Bill could hook a single trout.

Maurice Tillet of France, affectionately known as The Angel, has been signed to meet Steve Casey in a championship wrestling match under Paul Power auspices at the Garden on Monday night, May 13.

The Angel, a human kangaroo, came to the United States last year and has been undefeated in 54 matches, and claims to have been undefeated in 100 previous matches on the other side.

His latest victim was Tim Casey, Steve's brother, who was pinned with his legs at the Garden Wednesday night.

Steve was on the same card, in a semifinal with M. J. Kirslenko, and after the evening's fun the pair decided to leave the Garden and go all.

Posedel Gets Call Against Warneke In St. Louis Series

ST. LOUIS, May 3—After two most unwelcome days off the Bees hope to get rolling today in their opening visit to the Mound City, where they open a two-game series with the Cardinals this afternoon.

Snowed out of their second game with the Cubs Wednesday, the Bees were forced to remain idle yesterday because of the extreme cold and the poor condition of Wrigley Field.

As a result of these two postponements the Bees have only one game to show for their western jaunt to date and that is the 8 to 7 10-inning loss to Gabby Hartnett's last Tuesday.

This unwelcome vacation has done little to improve the feelings of Casper Stengel, who has watched the stage where he believes the elements are conspiring to wreck his club.

"If it wasn't had enough to lose five games in a row after the opener—a stretch that ruined all our spring conditioning, we got another layoff now just as the boys are starting to hit and the club is beginning to roll."

And because of the fact that Posedel is so anxious to chalk up a victory against the Cards he is making a change in his pitching there. Rookie Nick Strincevich, who was slated to go against the Cubs but who lost out because of the weather, will give up his turn today to Sailor Bill Posedel.

After a bad start in the opener against the Dodgers because of a troublesome shoulder, the Sailor showed he was ready when he pitched eight impressive frames against the Phils last Saturday.

With Posedel right, there are few hurriers in the senior loop any longer.

Bill will be shooting for his first win and the second triumph for the Bees. He will probably have to turn in a gilt edged effort as the Cards have Lon Warneke—the long, lean veteran right hander available.

Lon has been rested since last Saturday and that is the equivalent to a two week layoff when you are working for Ray Blades.

Both Posedel and Warneke are fit—it should be quite a ball game.

Red Sox Send Rich To Louisville

Woody Rich, brilliant rookie pitcher for the Red Sox last spring, today was back in Louisville of the American Association because of arm trouble. He was released subject to 24-hour recall by the Sox. A sore arm developed on a cold, rainy day and Rich has never been able to recover the poise he had at the beginning.

Must Run To Win

By the Associated Press

The boys sitting around Hollywood Park fell to discussing the coming Derby and they all agreed on one thing—that "no Kentucky Derby is won until the race is run."

Although most of them favor Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, they pointed out that there have been other "Bimelechs"—horses which were heavy favorites long before the race, but which never got the wreath of roses.

Among them were North Star II, which didn't get to the post; Sunbriar, which had the same fate; Equipoise, scratched an hour before post time; and Brevity, whipped by a nostril. There are others but that is enough to make at least five members of the California colony—Albert Johnson, Willie Knapp, Charlie Thompson, Frankie Herbert and Charley Borel, all of whom have ridden Derby winners—think that Bimelech is not a cinch come Saturday.

Mrs. Ethel Mars, Marshall Field, William Woodward, George D. Widener and Herbert M. Woolf are the leading nominators for the Wilmington Handicap, inaugural feature of the Delaware Park race meeting which opens May 29. The Wilmington is a six furlong sprint that has attracted 46 nominations. Mrs. Mars' Milky Way Stable heads the list with five. Field has named four and the others have entered three each.

Before heading for Kentucky to witness the performance of his Pictor in the Derby, W. L. Brann stated that the son of Challenger II would be a positive starter in the Preakness, no matter what he does in the Derby. Brann, owner of last year's Preakness winner—Chalcedon—said he has high hopes of being the first owner since 1928 to capture two straight Preakness races.

Jockey Nick Wall has returned to Pimlico from Louisville and will ride out the rest of the meeting. Wall has not been seen by Maryland fans since the first week at Havre de Grace, where he figured in a bad spill.

Both Wall and Sonny Workman will have mounts in the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico May 8, it was announced today. Workman will be aboard Mrs. A. J. Abel's Honey Cloud, winner of the Gittins Handicap, and Wall has several offers but has not decided which one to accept.

Hugh Jacobs, America's leading trainer for the past seven years, was the top trainer of the first 15 days at Jamaica, saddling 30 winners. Four of them were for Mrs. Jacobs, four for Isadore Bieber and two for Mrs. Danon Romain. George Odum was the runner up with eight winners, having saddled six for Marshall Field and two for Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart.

stock and till their patches. But Jimmy says that the home soil holds no charm and after his athletic career is done, he will not go back, except to visit.

But Lefty vows that he will live and, when the time comes, will die in his native north, where the day begins at five and bedtime comes at ten. He has no fancy notions from big time baseball, his hero's life and the metropolitan luxuries around the league circuit.

NOW IN THE LATTER STAGE OF THEIR CAREERS, Lefty and Jimmy have saved their earnings, perhaps amounting to $200,000 in property, investments, insurance trusts and bank balances. Jimmy, with a restless urge to be busy, has invested some of this in a Florida golf club, where last year he lost about $9000. But Grove's only weakness is for his automobiles, of which he usually has two—big, special bodied creations of nickel and gilt which stand before his modest home and cause the neighbors to goggle.

Fox's lives within easy access to the country clubs. But Grove in the off-season moves among the homespun natives who wander in their tumble-down village on the upper slopes of the Cumberland, making a day's work of purchasing a sack of eating tobacco or hailing Charley or Jimmy in passing along the ruts of their main street.

"Lefty's Place," a low frame building with last season's dust on the windows, stands beside a mountain gully, with timbered shores against its sides, a ramshackle pool and bowling emporium which Mose Grove operates for off-season amusement.

There conversation revolves around Grove the year around, with the local lads chomping on their cuds, squirting amber jets through their teeth and making simple, droning chat about their hero's habits.

I know that this is so because I visited Lefty in his home some time ago and spent several days in the rustic comfort of his little home, where Mrs. Grove, a cherry woman, set out huge platters of steaming food in the family kitchen. A noisy clock ticked and bonged in the quarter hours, out of keeping with the unharmed calm of the household. Lefty's uncle discoursed between mouthfuls on the price of coal at the shaft head, a new furnace pipe, and the puny condition of Aunt Martha's health. It was a folksy spot!

'SECOND ALEXANDER' OF '39 GOES BACK TO MINOR LEAGUE

By HERB FINNEGAN

The dispatch read: "The Boston Red Sox announced today Woody Rich, right-handed pitcher, had been released to the Louisville club of the American Association on 24-hour recall and would join the Colonels in St. Paul tomorrow." That was all. Fame is fleeting.

LOOK FOR THE NAME AND NUMBER

UNITED CLOTHIERS INC.

You'd never guess they were referring to the same Woody Rich who was the toast of the major leagues a year ago, would you?

Yet it's the very same Woody, the ploughboy from North Carolina who was the sensation of the Sox '39 training season in Sarasota.

REMEMBER LAST YEAR?

Remember the reams of copy that were written about him? Remember how the writers predicted he would win 20 games last year? Well, Woody deserved every word, and the newsmen had sound basis for their predictions. If anybody ever looked like a 20-game winner his first year up, it was Rich.

A dead ringer for Alex (Grover Cleveland Alexander), said Coach Tommy Daly, who caught Alex when the latter was with the Cubs, and Woody acted the part.

He had a blazing fast ball which he sidewheeled in such fashion that it broke off the handle of the bat.

His curve was a dandy, and he wasn't afraid to throw it in the pinch. His control was incredible for a boy who had been in pro ball little more than a year.

SET EARLY SOX PACE

He had come up from Little Rock where he had won 19 games for Doc Prothro after a late start.

And at Sarasota in '39 he looked as if he could do as well for the Sox.

He lived up to expectations in April and early May. He paced the Sox pitchers with four victories, all low-hitters.

Pennant talk was rife. Here was the spark the Sox needed. They couldn't be stopped now.

But something happened. The Yanks were coming to Fenway on the week-end, and the Sox wanted Woody ready to pitch against them. So he was used a day ahead of schedule in hopes of getting in an extra victory before the Yanks arrived.

GOT WIN, LOST PITCHER

The Sox got the victory but lost a pitcher—maybe forever.

It was a cold, dank day. Woody went along all right for five innings, then had to leave the game. It was nothing to worry about, the writers were told. He would be all right with a couple of days' rest.

But he wasn't, and he wasn't for the rest of the season. Perhaps it was mental but where he was fogging them in before his injury, he was wishing them in now. He was no help to the Sox, so there was no alternative but to send him out again.

He wound up at dear old Louisville, where he won 2, lost 2. Not much of a record for the young giant who started the season like a 20-game winner in the majors.

INJURED ANKLE

He did pitch like his old self in one Little World Series game, however, and it was hoped he would be himself again this year after a winter's rest.

He looked all right when he arrived in camp, and he said his arm was sound.

But he wasn't there a week until he injured his ankle, which naturally held up his throwing. And by the time his ankle healed he was so heavy the coaches had him eating only two meals a day and running his head off around the outfield.

He never did get going in the South. His control, so unerringly accurate a year back, was far out of line. He blew up against the Reds and later against the Giants.

NEEDED PLENTY OF WORK

It was evident he needed plenty of work to regain the touch. He showed that when he appeared against the White Sox last Tuesday here.

He couldn't hope to get much work the way Dickman, Bagby, Harris, Hersh and Galehouse have been going, and he's better off working in his regular turn with lashing up an occasional game with the Sox.

But a fellow can't help thinking, and we wonder if that injury ever would have occurred if he hadn't been used out of turn a year back, or if he's just one of those ball players who never get a break.

It must be the latter because here's the Louisville Derby coming up tomorrow, and he has to report in St. Paul.

At any rate, you'd think a kid who looked like a second Alexander a year ago would deserve more than the few lines he got as he bid Boston adieu, wouldn't you?

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Freddie Hutchinson, $70,000 rookie, was released on option to Toledo of the American Association by Detroit Tigers.

THREE YEARS AGO—Ellsworth Vines trounced Fred Perry, 7-3, 6-3, 6-3, before 6000 at Madison Square Garden to take 23-27 lead in pro tennis series.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Cy Blanton, Pittsburgh Pirates' star, out star, blanked Brooklyn Dodgers, 1-0, for fourth consecutive victory.

Yesterday's Stars

REDDY YORK AND HAL NEWHOUSE, Tugers—Turner hit two-run homer and latter pitched six-hit ball in downing Senators 5-1.

CLIFF NELTON, Giants—Pitched six innings in relief and held Cardinals to two hits.

BUDDY BAER, above, gets his chance tonight to pin a K. O. on Nathan Mann with that glove he is admiring. If Buddy makes a good impression on Mike Jacobs he'll get a bout with Champion Joe Louis this summer.

'Buddy' Baer, Mann Battle on Tonight

NEW YORK, May 3 (INS)—Buddy Baer this evening will go after a shot at Joe Louis' crown when he meets with the rejuvenated Nathan Mann in a scheduled 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Buddy, now 23, feels the time is ripe for him to step out from behind the corkscrew shadow of his brother Max, and succeed where said Maxie failed miserably against Louis.

Promoter Mike Jacobs dangles before Buddy's eyes the chance of a Louis bout in Detroit in the fall. But in order to inherit that spot, the Baby Baer must eradicate Mann decisively and then produce perhaps one or two more solid successes.

That Buddy has no setup on tap in Nathan can be gathered from the odds, which are 6 to 5 and take your pick.

Kay Winthrop Net Victim

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 3 (AP)—Charles Hare, No. 1 English player, reached the semi-final bracket here of the Hot Springs invitation tennis tournament by defeating John Mahoney of New York, 6-0, 6-3.

Other results gave Tom Kelly, Portland, Ore., a 7-5, 6-2 victory over Alex Cuery, Chapel Hill, N. C.; J. Gilbert Hall, New York, a 6-0, 6-1 triumph over Frank Froelich, Chicago; and Archie Henderson, Chapel Hill, a 6-0, 6-1 decision over Ed McKnight of Boston.

In the second round of the women's singles here Louise Raymond, Scarsdale, N. Y., defeated Kay Winthrop, Boston, 7-5, 6-0, and Mary Hardwick, London, defeated Emily Lincoln, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Hardwick will meet Miss Hope Knowles, Philadelphia, and Miss Raymond will meet Gracy Wheeler, young Santa Monica player, in the semifinals today.

Trosky Will Fly To Join Indians

CLEVELAND, May 3 (AP)—Hal Trosky, Cleveland Indians' slugging first baseman, said here he would board a plane for Washington Saturday to join the Tribe in the second game of their series with the Washington Senators.

Trosky flew here from Philadelphia Wednesday to go to the bedside of his 14-month-old son, James, in a hospital following removal of a piece of crisp bacon from his lung. The Tribesman reported his son's condition "as well as can be expected."

TOP-NOTCH CARD LISTED FOR TRI-CITY AMATEURS

A miniature national boxing championship will be staged at the Arena next Monday when the Irish-American A. A. closes its season's promotional activities with a tri-city offering, bringing together top-notch boxers from Buffalo, Philadelphia and Boston.

Intercity competition will be held in five classes at 126, 135, 147, 160 pounds and heavyweights. There will be four boxers in each class, one each from Buffalo and Philly and two from Boston.

In addition, there will be an open heavyweight division and a 160-pound class for novices.

WRESTLING IN 147'S
One of the features of the inter-city competition will be the 147-pound class in which the national champion, Henry Brimm of Buffalo, competes against Red Priest of New England and Eastern all-America king.

Another top notcher in the welter division is John Ciabattani, who represented the Middle Atlantic Association in the recent nationals here.

CYCLONE RETURNS
Heavyweight headliners are Cyclone Williams of Buffalo and Bill Judge of Philadelphia, the Middle Atlantic champion. Boston's two heavies were to be named tonight. The sensational Buffalo lightweight, Irish Jimmy Winters, will face Al Freda of Milford and Al Tatra of Cambridge, '39 New England champion.

Henry Chmielewski, New England middleweight champion, faces Angle Arcellano of New York in the semi-final to the Buddy Baer-Nathan Mann fight in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Howell Klug of Springfield, recent conqueror of Henry Chmielewski, will meet Coley Welch of Portland in an Argonne A. A. offering at Mechanics Hall.

Promoter Eddie Mack says it will be the finest middleweight bout to be staged in Boston since Harry Greb fought Kid Norfolk.

The Goodwin A. C. show, originally scheduled at the Arena tonight, has been put over to next Friday. George Salamone of East Boston was to have met Bob "Poison" Ivy of Hartford in the main bout.

168 Nominated For Delaware 'Cap
STANTON, Del., May 3 (AP)—A total of 168 thoroughbreds have been nominated for Delaware Park's $10,000 added Kent Handicap, the $5000 Diamond State Stakes and the $4000 added Delaware Oaks, Delaware park officials announced today. This compares to 132 nominations a year ago.

Delaware Park opens May 29 and closes July 4.

'Charley-Horse' Dates Back to 1890

By the Associated Press
Here's one to tell your neighbors at the ball park during the seventh inning stretch... It's the derivation of "Charley-horse," the severe muscle bruise that has benched many a ball player.

Dr. Augustus Thorndike, Jr., surgeon for Harvard athletes, declared today in the Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery: "In about 1890, the Sioux City baseball team of the old Western League had an old broken-down horse named Charley. The limp of this horse was quite typical, and often, when a player appeared with a similar limp, someone would say, 'Here comes Charley.' "From this expression the term "Charley-horse" was derived."

Food

Smuggled across the Swedish border, this photo is one of the few to evade German censorship in Nazi-held Oslo . . . and shows Norse civilians, mostly women and children, lined up to receive a food ration from Germans. British say picture is evidence that food stocks were commandeered immediately by the invading forces.

Priests Now—

Garbed in white albs and standing at the altar of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, 35 novices today receive the sacred vows of priesthood. Officiating at the solemn services is the Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, auxiliary bishop of Boston. Most of the newly ordained priests will celebrate their first masses on Sunday.
